Astronomical legacy for the future

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus may soon have a new $2.2 million shopping center complete with an A & P Supermarket, a Perry Drug Store and several other retail outlets.

City officials met with the developer Daniel Klein and the firm's bond attorney Monday to informally discuss plans for the 13.5 acres of land at Van Born and Inkster roads in the northeast corner of the city.

Also present for the session was Chuck Hazen of the state Department of Commerce.

After discussion on the new shopping center, the developer's bond attorney agreed to send a formal letter to the city's Economic Development Corporation (EDC) requesting a formal meeting for the firm's developer from Southfield to go over the plans in more detail.

Temple Development Corporation, which would construct the shopping center, has developed such shipping complexes as the Brighton Mall, Novi Plaza and several A & P Supermarkets in other Michigan cities.

The A & P proposal is the first time that the EDC has been approached since its inception a year ago. Under new state legislation enacted last year, EDCs formed in Michigan cities and townships are authorized to issue tax-exempt municipal bonds for construction of private projects which economically aid those communities.

The corner of Van Born and Inkster roads was selected by Temple because of its central location to four communities — Romulus, Inkster, Taylor and Westland — and because the area was "understored".

The A & P Supermarket proposed would contain 30,000 square feet and would be similar to the new one just completed in Wayne. Perry Drug store would occupy 15,000 square feet, while the remaining 25,000 square feet would be devoted to such retail outlets as an ice cream store, a dry cleaners, a hardware store and a restaurant.

Also present at the Monday meeting were Mayor William M. Oakley, Hyle Carmichael, industrial coordinator; Dave Krause, city assessor; several EDC directors; Hazen; and representatives of A & P and Temple.

The proposed shopping center will be built around the Union 76 gasoline station at the Van Born-Inkster intersection and will offer some 300,000 square feet of parking space for shoppers.

Magnitude of the project was emphasized when it was pointed out that it would take four to six months to obtain financing, 15 procedural steps and meetings and the filling out of 25 separate documents.

Mayor rebuffed

Council axes bid for fire station

Mayor William M. Oakley's bid for a new fire station for the southwest portion of Romulus was rebuffed Tuesday night by city council.

Council's rejection came despite backup support to the mayor's request from written recommendations submitted by Hyle Carmichael, industrial coordinator, and Fire Chief John N. Wilhide.

Discussion on the proposed fire station, which would be the city's fifth, prompted a demand from council for additional support.

Council requested that action toward the new fire station be delayed until the city's Police, Fire and Safety Commission could submit its evaluation of the project. In fact, council members said the commission's recommendations would have to support and concur with the mayor's before it would consider the station's construction.

Oakley told council, that as chief executive officer of the city, he felt his recommendations carried sufficient weight and did not require additional support.

In his request, the mayor had recommended immediate purchase of 1.6 acres of land for $9,600 on the north side of Northline Road and east of South Huron River Drive. The land is owned by the state and is available for purchase, according to Albert H. Olsen, superintendent of the State District Excess Property Division.

In his report, Carmichael stated the $9,600 asked for the land parcel "is definitely in the right price range." Further, he stated that sewer and water are available to service the proposed site and that the location was suitable to service the area bordered by two major railroads, the C & O and the N & W.

Wilhide's report stated the proposed site fitted the need for a new fire hall in the vicinity of Northline and Huron River Drive which had been discussed on numerous occasions since 1974.

He said a fire station there would greatly help firefighting services needed in that area because of the two railroads, Kelsey-Hayes, Western Eaton, Solventol, Huron Valley Estates and other businesses and residences.

The fire chief also stated that the proposed site tallied with the city planner's recommendations for a new fire station on the city's master plan.

He said he believed the price was fair and that the property should be purchased now so the city could qualify for a Public Works Grant to build the fire station.

Girls seek second win

Sore muscles will go to the participants, but proceeds will go to muscular dystrophy patients when elected officials and female city hall employes lock horns Wednesday, June 21, in a softball contest at Elmer Johnson City Park.

Scheduled to begin at 7:15 p.m., this year's third annual fray will see the men try to get revenge. Last year, when female secretaries knocked off their male bosses, embarrassment reigned supreme in city hall offices next day.

During the game, donations will be collected by members of the Michigan Roadrunners Club of Romulus. For additional information, call "Tootie" Fischer at 941-0666, extension 38.

Primary candidates do battle

With the filing deadline officially closed last Tuesday, political races affecting the residents of the Belleville-Romulus area have shaped up for the Aug. 8 primary. Final elections will be held Nov. 7.

In the race for the 13th state senatorial district, which covers Romulus and Belleville and Sumpter and Van Buren townships, incumbent Democrat William Faust, Westland, is unopposed in the primary. On the Republican ticket, Coleman Flaskamp II, Canton, also is running unopposed.

Sen. Faust and Flaskamp will, therefore, face each other in the final runoff in November.

In the race for state representative from the 38th district, which covers most of Romulus and all of Sumpter and Huron townships, incumbent Democrat Edward Mahalak, Romulus, is seeking his eighth term to the Michigan House.

Also seeking the Democrat nomination for the 38th district are Leonard Folmar, Romulus city clerk, and Gervazio Canejo, Romulus councilman. Two Republicans are seeking the nomination. They are Dorothy Rush, Romulus, and George Versteeg, Petersburg.

In the election for state representative from the 22nd district, which includes a small portion on the west side of Romulus, incumbent Democrat Gary Owen, Ypsilanti, is running unopposed. No Republicans are seeking the 22nd district seat.

In the race for U.S. representative from the 15th congressional district, which includes Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren, incumbent Democrat William Ford, Taylor, is unopposed. The same situation exists on the Republican side, with Edgar Nieten, Romulus, being the only candidate seeking that post.

On the Wayne County scene, primary interest will center in the Belleville-Romulus area on races for county commissioner from the 26th and 27th districts.

In the 26th county commissioner district, which includes Romulus and Huron Township, incumbent Democrat Edgar L. Harris, Taylor, is being opposed by Maynard A. Armstrong and Ralph J. Lennon, also both from Taylor. No Republicans are running for that seat in the primary runoff.

In the 27th county commissioner district, which includes Belleville and Sumpter and Van Buren townships, appointee incumbent Democrat R. William Joyner, Plymouth, is seeking the seat formerly occupied by John Barr, former chairman of the county board. He will be opposed by Democrats Robert D. Smith, Wayne; Frederick M. Montgomery, Wayne; Walter T. Hink, Belleville; Berna V. Chenault, Sumpter Township; and Robert L. Myers, Canton Township.

A lone Republican, Frank Yonish, Wayne, is running unopposed for the 27th district county commissioner's seat.

July 4th parade is scheduled

Thanks to the efforts of the Romulus Bicentennial Committee, local residents this year will again enjoy a Fourth of July celebration complete with parade, picnic and fireworks display.

According to Mrs. Donna Lee Zavitz, committee member, any individual or group wishing to participate in the fourth annual parade is welcome. She said the committee would like to have more Boy and Girl Scouts, classic and old cars, bicyclists, etc., in the annual parade.

Staging for the parade is scheduled from 10 a.m. until noon on Tuesday, July 4 at the city hall parking lot. From there the parade will travel beginning at noon down Goddard Road to Five Points, as in former years, she said.

Following the picnic in the afternoon at Elmer Johnson Park, a fireworks display after dark will bring an end to the day's festivities.

To help raise funds for the picnic, the Progressive Club will hold a bingo party Tuesday, June 27 at 7 p.m. at its quarters at Five Points.

"We hope that his year's Fourth of July celebration in Romulus will see more people participating in some way. The more who do, the better it will be," Mrs. Zavitz said.

She said further information can be obtained by calling Jack Trumble, 941-3513; Marge McCrory, 941-3349; or herself, 728-6893.

Super athlete

This cute young lass is a picture of contentment after earning recognition as the youngest participant to finish the 20-mile bike marathon in Romulus on Youth Day recently. Five-year-old Kelly Jean Miller, 14439 St. Aloysius, Romulus, had her bicycle moving in high gear as she completed the long journey. It's hard to see, but Kelly is holding the City of Romulus Award by her left side and said the bike ride was a lot of fun.

Offbeat Michigan

Moose, fudge and a king are lures of islands

("Island Touring" is the third in a series of 15 weekly articles on "Offbeat Michigan." These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and near-home travel.)

Stalking moose, eating fudge in a fort or strolling a town once ruled by a king are among the varied attractions luring visitors to Michigan islands, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Michigan has hundreds of islands, and Auto Club selected several to show the variety offered. While some are remote, others are ideal for vacations and a few cater only to daytime visitors looking for a place to swim, fish, picnic or sunbathe in the shadow of giant buildings.

Most remote and largest of these islands is Lake Superior's Isle Royale. The 42-mile-long wilderness island is accessible by boat or seaplane from Houghton or Copper Harbor. It features moose and two rarely seen wolf packs. The island is famous for backpacking, but offers food and lodging at Rock Harbor on the island's eastern end.

Wilderness fishing, hunting and camping are found on Sugar and Neebish islands in the St. Mary's River, both reachable by ferry from Sault Ste. Mariel Cottage and resort accommodations are available.

The wild, rugged nature of those islands contrasts with Middle Ground Issland at Bay City, Ojibway Island at Saginaw and Belle Isle at Detroit, which all offer recreation, picnicking and water sports and are accessible by car.

Middle Ground and Ojibway islands are in the Saginaw River. Bay City's Bigelow Park is on Middle Ground Island at the 23rd Street bridge. It contains an operating sawmill and a pleasant residential area. A marina offers food and entertainment. Saginaw's 49-acre Ojibway Island, reached by the Court Street bridge, contains a popular city recreation park.

Sulphur Island, three miles east of Alpena in Lake Huron, is another day-use island near one of northern Michigan's largest cities. It is a scenic and rustic picnic spot and offers swimming and fishing. The island, reached only by boat, is without modern conveniences.

Detroit's 1,000-acre Belle Isle has a children's zoo, beaches for swimming and sunbathing, Dossin's Great Lakes Museum, a conservatory and an aquarium. It has deer, bridle paths, stables, tennis courts and a band shell where free summer concerts are held. It is a productive fishing spot and rental canoes are available.

Another large island just above Detroit is in the St. Clair Flats at the head of Lake St. Clair. Harsens Island is reached by a short and scenic ferry ride from Algonac. Points of interest are Sans Souci, the island's only town; the historic Old Club; the Idle Hour Hotel, and the Four Winds restaurant. Fishing along the island's cuts and channels is rated very good.

Among the state's vacation islands are Mackinac, Bois Blanc, Beaver, Drummond and North and South Manitou, plus the 35 islands in the Les Cheneaux chain.

Beaver Island, 55 square miles of wilderness in northern Lake Michigan, is reached by plane or ferry from Charlevoix. A Mormon colony was established there in 1847 by James Jesse Strang, who proclaimed himself king. Hardwood and pine forests are broken by deserted farms, and sandy beaches rim the island's edge. Visitors can find accommodations and shops in the town of St. James.

The eastern Upper Peninsula's Les Cheneaux Islands are off M-134, near Cedarville and Hessel. This chain stretches into Lake Huron as far as the eye can see. There are no ferries, but 10 percent of the islands are connected to the mainland by bridge. Summer cottages and cabins are available.

At the Upper Peninsula's eastern tip, a short ferry ride takes travelers and their cars from Detrour to Drummond Island. There's a crumbling old British fort there, as well as cottages, cabins, motels, restaurants, a golf course and camping.

Mackinac Island is a place of contrasts—old and new, lavish and simple, hills and plains. The island is reached by ferry from Macknaw City or St. Ignace. Automobiles are banned, and travel is on foot, by bicycle or horse drawn vehicle. The island offers fine old hotels and shops that sell everything from fudge and souvenirs to clothing and jewelry. Historic sites include Old Ft. Macknac and the original Astor Fur Trading Post.

Bois Blanc Island is within sight of Mackinac Island and a six-mile ferry ride into Lake Huron from Cheboygan. The 14-by-seven-mile island offers lodging with food, and boat, car and bicycle rentals at the 1874 Vintage Pines, the island's only hostelry. Miles of trails and shoreline make Bois Blanc ideal for hiking and backpacking.

Lake Michigan's North and South Manitou islands are accessible by ferry from Leland. Among North Manitou's attractions are deer and wild turkeys. Trails radiate from the island's restored Coast Guard station, offering a central lodge with a dining room. Cottages are available. Most of South Manitour aisland is owned by the National Park Service and operates as part of the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore. Camping is permitted there.

SAFETY TIP:
Driver weariness is a major factor in Michigan highway deaths. Never travel more than two hours without a rest break. Use the attractive rest stops along Michigan's highway network to relax, exercise, freshen up and have a soft drink or coffee.

3 Romulus High Seniors win top honors

Two Romulus High School graduates are wearing the distinction of valedictorian after achieving perfect 4.0 grade point averages through their high school careers.

The co-valedictorians are Kristi Stephens and Cynthia Loeman.

Named as salutatorian of the Romulus class of '78 is Carol Schneider.

They will be among more than 270 students receiving their diplomas tomorrow night at commencement exercises that will be held at Bowen Field House on the campus of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

The ceremonies begin at 7 p.m.

The three top scholars will give brief addresses to the audience of faculty, family and friends.

Miss Loeman is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Loeman of Craig Street. The graduate will attend the University of Michigan, Dearborn campus, and major in accounting.

Miss Stephens is the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Stephens of Lisa Street. She plans to major in biochemistry at Michigan State University.

Miss Schneider is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weaver of Inkster Road. He plans are to attend the Detroit College of Business and major in business administration.

They and the other honor graduates, who have earned grade point averages of 3.0 or above, will be distinguished by gold tassels on their caps.

Kristi Stephens, Cynthia Loeman attain 4.0 average for four years

Tomorrow's commencement will also feature a break from tradition, as requested by the graduating class. Class President Celia Griffith wrote a letter to the board asking that the class advisor, Michael Teasdale, be allowed to hand out diplomas to the class.

Usually board members give out the certificates. In the letter, Miss Griffith noted that the class "intends no disrespect to the board."

She added that the motive was "to demonstrate our esteem for Michael Teasdale with whom we have a close relationship."

The board approved the request unanimously, keeping with a policy of turning over as much of the commencement ceremony to students as possible.

Romulus High School Principal Joel R. Carr announced the following list of honor graduates who have maintained a 3.0 average or better: Deborah Bath, Sharon Bilbrey, Victor Bird, Ruth Bonam, Debra Brown, James Burcroff, Juan Calvo, Pamela Cofield, Michael Cole, Elaine Csupak, Alfred DeChene, Lori Dick, Kimberly Druyor, Beth Farrell, Timothy Flake, Bridget Forintos, Wendy Grimsley, Nora Hatcher, James Helmuth, Ross Hoff, Cynthia Huff, Denise Hunter, Brigitte Johnson, Bennie Johnson, Lynn Johnson, Sharon Johnson, Victor Kossel, Mary Lynn Laster, Deborah Lemmon, Sandra Lewis, Cynthia Loeman, John Lowe, Michael Marsiglia, Deborah McVicar, Julie Moore, Cynthia Napier, Steven Napier, Tammy Niergarth, Nancy Niewiarowicz, Suzanne Orgovan, Christie Ozment, Jane Paige, Jennifer Peggs, Mark Pokerwinski, Sandra Poole, Nancy Samuels, Franchie Sandusky, Carrol Schneider, Kristi Stephens, Anthony Suessine, Bridgette Thompson, Melody Trailer, Nina Trump, Nell Walker, Debra Warren, David White, Bonnie Wilson, James Woolford, Debra Zilka.

U.S. racquetball meet Saturday in Van Buren

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

The biggest stars in U.S. racquetball competition will be in Van Buren Township Saturday to compete in the 1978 USRA Racquetball National Championships.

Hosting the event will be the brand new Sports Illustrated Court Club, the $1 million 12-court facility expected to be open this week.

The club is located next to the Lemontree Apartment complex on the I-94 Expressway Service Drive between Belleville and Rawsonville roads.

Professional racquetball players from all over the country will begin play on June 17, and proceed through quarterfinal, semifinal and final eliminations in both men's and women's categories, according to tournament director Gil Schmitt.

Sponsors of the championships are the Colgate, Seamco and Leach companies.

The tournament will provide a spectacular grand opening for the raquetball club, which is opening barely a week before the competition.

Area residents may buy tickets to watch the matches. Schmitt said that there are some $100 and $125 reserved tickets left. Call him or Carol Combs at 358-0030 for information on these advance sales. These tickets entitle the spectator to reserved seats throughout the eight-day tournament. These seats are located "ring-side" around the glass-walled exhibition court. That court has glass walls on three sides. The top matches will be played there.

Four other courts have glass backed walls, Schmitt said.

Tickets can be bought at the door daily for general admission seats. During the first five days of the tournament, these will cost $5 a day, then will jump to $10 per day during the last three days, when the competition becomes keen during final eliminations.

Schmitt called the tournament the "biggest thing in racquetball," comparable to what Wimbeldon competition means in tennis. The racquetball championships were in Las Vegas last year, and San Diego two years before that, he said. Having the competition in Van Buren this year is an outstanding feather in its cap.

Professional stars taking part in the contests include five-time national championship Charlie Brumfield, an attorney who found racquetball more profitible than law; four-time champion and 42-year-old housewife Peggy Steding; last year's national women's champion Shannon Wright; and the 19-year-old "wonder" of the sport, Marty Hogan. Hogan is highly favored in the tournament, and is noted for the speed of his game, hitting the ball to speeds of 140 miles per hour, Schmitt said.

In the meantime, the Sports Illustrated center continues to sell memberships in the club. Although the bar and restaurant in the building will be open to the general public, the racquetball center itself will be open to members only. Some 500 memberships have been sold already, said Schmitt. Further information on the Van Buren club can be obtained by calling it at 699-0900.

10,000 are expected at gospel meeting

An all-day gospel singing from 10 a.m. to midnight this Saturday is expected to draw upwards of 10,000 people to Belleville 4-H Fairgrounds, I-94 and Belleville Road, Van Buren Township.

More than 12 gospel quartets and groups will sing from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and again from 6:30-10:30 p.m.

Tickets, which are available at the gates, are $4 for adults and $2.50 for children between 6-12. There is no charge for children five years of age and under.

A spaghetti dinner will be served from 4:30-6:30 p.m. at $2 and $3.

"This is our second annual all-day gospel sing and we expect this to grow in participation and crowds each year," said Evert Sanders of The Crossmen, chairman of the event.

Sanders urged people to bring their lawn chairs and said there is plenty of parking, including 280 complete camper hookups.

"We will be privileged to have some of the very best gospel singing groups in Michigan with us Saturday and there will be a wide range of gospel singing and playing to suit every listener," said Sanders, who may be called at 483-6344 for information about the gospel sing this weekend.

Included in the singing groups are The Crossmen, The Duty Family, The Mamereans, The Patton Family, The Sunliters, The Davidsons, The Graceway's, The Pathways, The Stubbs' Family, The Taylor Brothers, The Wasepi Bluegrass Gospel Singers, besides many others.

City will get tough on delinquent taxes

The city of Romulus has received an initial $25,000 from the federal government under the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Section 312 Rehabilitation Loan Program, according to Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley.

"The rehabilitation loans may be used for repairs and improvements needed for the property to comply with the minimum health and safety standards of the local housing and building code," Oakley said in making the announcement.

Under provisions set up by HUD, 60 percent of the loan must be used to bring the house up to code, while 40 percent can be used for general improvements.

To qualify for loans, the prospective borrower must either own the house or be buying it under an installment loan contract and must be a resident of the city. In general, loans cannot exceed the actual cost of rehabilitation or $27,000 per dwelling unit, whichever is less.

The term of the loan may not exceed 20 years or three-fourths of the remaining economic life of the property after rehabilitation, whichever is less. In general, a mortgage is not required unless the loan is $3,500 or more.

The loan is repaid in equal monthly installments. The borrower must include in his monthly payment an amount equal to one-twelfth of the estimated annual cost of taxes, insurance and similar expenses on the property. The loan can be paid off ahead of the expiration date without penalty.

For more information, call Andrew Powell, loan and grants specialist, Romulus Help Center, 941-7970.

City gets fed funds to aid house repairs

In the past there has not been a concerted effort made to collect delinquent personal property taxes, according to Helen Galbien, Romulus City treasurer.

After conferring with the Wayne County treasurer and his staff, an effort is now being made to collect these taxes, she explained.

"A series of three letters is being mailed to those people whose taxes have not been paid. The first two letters allow one month each for the payment of the taxes. The third and final letter allows a specific time of 10 to 14 days for payment, she said.

"After this time expires, a personal visit will be made to the place of business and more drastic measures will be taken. As yet this phase has not been implemented."

The first leetters was mailed on Feb. 1, 1978, with another series beginning March 1 and April 1, 1978. Since the mailing of the first letters, the collection of delinquent personal property taxes has shown a 68 percent increase over the same time period last year, Mrs. Galbien said.

Revenue to the city's general operating fund is more than 2½ times the amount collected for the 1976-77 fiscal year.

State House honors Romulus Chamber

State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) (center) presented a resolution from the State House of Representatives to the Romulus Chamber of Commerce when it was chartered on May 24. "It is a pleasure to take special note of the reorganization and reestablishment of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce," the resolution read. "The rekindling of civic pride and citizen unity that has prompted this banding together of concerned leaders of the community is an example worthy of emulation and the people who comprise the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce are indeed worthy of commendation..." the document read in part. On hand (from left) to receive the resolution were Chamber officials Bill Dorne, treasurer, C. J. "Doc" Carpenter, president; Mahalak; Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley; and Jim Labadie, secretary.

Area schools get money

Romulus and Huron and Van Buren townships are among 15 school districts located in the 13th senatorial district which will share in more than $15 million in state school aid for the final 1977-78 fiscal two-month period which began June 1.

Sen. William Faust (D-Westland), in whose jurisdictional area the districts are located, said, "These financial aid payments include regular state aid payments, Titles I and III payments under the Elementary Education Act of 1963, and vocational education."

Romulus Community Schools will receive $555,398 in state aid, $90,328 in Title I, and $17,256 in vocational education; Huron School District, $547,472 in state aid, and $20,936 in Title I; Van Buren Public Schools, $661,532 in state aid, and $17,209 in Title I.

Faust explained that since this payment was the last in the 1977-78 fiscal year, amounts on the next payment due in August could change.

In Brief

Fireworks freeze voted

Action taken Tuesday night by the Romulus City Council will help keep the sale of fireworks in the community from getting out of hand.

Council unanimously passed a resolution which put an immediate 30-day freeze on the issuance of transient licenses to persons for the sale of fireworks.

The time period of the ban will take it a couple of days past the Fourth of July, thus making sure that no one but those persons now with licenses will be able to sell fireworks legally prior to and on the famous holiday.

The resolution was introduced by Council Chairman Mary Ann Banks.

New office for city

An office building for Airport Realty Associates costing $167,000 highlights the $1,244,281 in residential and other construction reported in building permits issued in May by the Romulus Building Department.

Residential building permits totalling 36 accounted for $400,350 of the total. They included seven permits for one-family houses, two for buildings demolished and 27 for additions and alterations.

The new realty office will be located on Middlebelt Road between Wick and Hildebrandt roads. Owner is Highland Industrial, 18620 W. 10 Mile Rd., Southfield.

Square dancing offered

The Romulus Recreation Department is sponsoring square dancing lessons every Monday at the Romulus City Hall community room. Any Romulus resident age 50 or over is welcome to join. Lessons are from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. There is no charge.

Carrier of the week

Cory Elementary School fifth grader Amber Grimsley, 10, is carrier of the month for her work in delivering the Romulus Roman to you each week. Amber has been a newspaper carrier for about five months. When she's not delivering papers or going to school, Amber likes to play baseball and practice her skateboarding technique. She is the daughter of Mrs. Carol Grimsley. By the way, the newspaper business apparently runs in the family. Amber's sister, Wendy Grimsley, works in the circulation department at Associated Newspapers.

Off to Hawaii

Miss Vernita Gilkey and her second grade class brought a touch of sunny Hawaii to Cory Elementary School in Romulus recently in a play entitled, "Let's Go To A Luau." The scenery, Hawaiian music, dances and costumes set a mood that was genuinely of the Pacific Ocean state. The gym walls were also decorated in drawings of the romantic island. Cory Principal Mrs. B. Newman had high praise for Miss Gilkey and the students for their professional-type production.—ANP photo.

Aged doesn't stop him from finishing school

Being too old for some folks doesn't mean it's toolate for some things.

Dressed in cap and gown, Sloan Martin, 72, stepped forward on June 4 in the Huron High School auditorium in New Boston to receive his GED certificate from the Huron School District.

With the assistance of the GED program, offered in Sumpter Township by Communities United For Action Inc., a community action agency serving people of limited income in out-Wayne County, along-time wish for the Maybee resident came true.

"It feels good at this age to get something I always wanted. I've learned a lot of new things," Martin said.

The years that bridge his fifth grade education and his getting a GED certificate, though, have fortunately never tasted suffering or failure or regret in any way due to a lack of education.

On the contrary, he said he has had a very happy and productive life, which his calm countenance and youthful look only seem to confirm.

"I never did worry. I always seemed to manage and do good without education," he added.

Riaised on a farm in Greenwood, S.C., he stopped attending school in the fifth grade to help out a large family of eight children.

At the age of 17 he left home and rambled back and forth to Florida before finally settling down in Detroit in 1927, where he remained until his retirement from Ford Motor Com. as a welder.

His only source of formal training was in welding at the Wolverine Trade School in Detroit in 1940 just prior to his employment with Ford, where he still is remembered for his 27 years of hard work and loyalty.

"They still recognize me after 10 years and send me letters to attend different gatherings with former employees," Martin said.

An onlooker can't help but notice an overwhelming fondness and devotion still present and displayed in both the eyes of he and his wife toward each other after 46 years of marriage, which seems to contain the secret of their happiness and contentment. And indeed it does, according to Martin.

As he casts an affectionate look her way, he readily admits that a lot of what he is is due to her loyal support and encouragement.

Martin said: "She has been great help to me in my life, and she was very instrumental in my getting a diploma". Since they first met in 1932, he says, they have "lived happily ever since".

With conviction and gratefulness evident in his voice he adds, "I have had a very, very good life."

When he jokingly attributes his not having learned anything more until the present to his love for the outdoors, his wife Agnes responds by saying: "I pushed him."

Both Martin and his wife now raise and tend a few cattle and horses. Not long ago they had nearly 500 hog which got to be just a little too much to handle, they said.

They are now looking forward to doing some travelling together.

BHS graduate receives U-M ROTC scholarship

Belleville high school graduate Dana Thorpe, 18,-year-old member of the Class of '78, is heading for Michigan State University with a four-year scholarship.

The award includes tuition, books and transportation, courtesy of the Air Force ROTC program. The scholarship was good at any university nationwide, Thorp said, and he chose MSU.

He plans to major in physics, and then go into an Air Force career as a pilot.

Thorp is the son of Melvin and Darlene Thorp of Nash Street, Ypsilanti, and has gone to Van Buren Schools since he was a child.

The scholarship grant was awarded based on academic achievement, extra curricular activities and interests of the candidate, Thorp said.

The graduate is a member of the Civil Air Patrol, enjoys the outdoors and what he foresees as the military life.

Thorp wanted to get into the Air Force Academy and was nominated to an appointment by Congressman Carl Pursell, but did not get the final appointment. He said he will try again next year for a nomination to the academy.

After graduation from the university, Thorp hopes to get an advanced degree before starting his pilot training.

He'll begin school as a MSU freshman in the fall.

Jail construction to start in July

Construction of the new Wayne County detention facility, anticipated for two years, will begin next month, according to County aboard Chairman Jarrette Simmons, following a June 2 dedication ceremony at the construction site.

Mrs. Simmons said caissons for the 600-cell unit will be sunk on July 5, and that the entire $31.7 million three-unit project will be completed 33 months later.

The facility will include the 600-cell structure beside Recorder's Court. Located directly south and east of Detroit police headquarters at 1300 Beaubien, the facility will be built on an L - shaped land parcel straddling Macomb Street between Beaubien and St. Antoine.

In her remarks, Mrs. Simmons emphasized that the facility will be both an economic and aesthetic compliment to nearby Greektown.

She also noted that the 13-story cell unit will be 25 feet lower than Recorder's Court and will feature an exterior similar in appearance. The exterior of the parking and administration units will resemble St. Mary's Church in the area.

Mrs. Simmons stressed that the facility will employ about 200 people. She noted that the new parking unit will accommodate 110 vehicles, and that 500 more spaces will be available in an existing parking garage across St. Antoine when Detroit General Hospital is relocated. Before construction of the detention facility is completed, the hospital is scheduled to move north to the medical center in the vicinity of Wayne State University.

Mrs. Simmons also pointed out that location of the facility in the present criminal justice complex saves money because of easy access to the courts, police headquarters and the present jail. Tunneling between these points can be cheaply constructed to assure maximum security, she added.

The medical term for the fear of work is Ergophobia.

In the armed forces

Reservist graduates from Lackland AFB, Tex.

Air Force Reserve Airman Vicke L. Hitchcock, the daughter of Ernest Hitchcock of Village Green Drive, Belleville, has graduated from Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., from Air Force basic training.

The airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of the training earned her credits towards an associate of applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Hitchcock now goes to Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., for specialized training in the medical service.

The airman is a 1973 graduate of Withrow High School in Cincinnati, Ohio, and attended the University of Cincinnati.

Also in the armed forces:

An official at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., has announced the graduation of Airman Ricky L. Wilson from the U. S. Air Force's corrosion control specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Wilson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson of Harrison, Romulus, is now trained to identify corrosion and apply preservative tratment to metal surfaces, and will serve at Shaw Air Force Base, S.C. Completion of the course earned him credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman attended Romulus High School.

Now serving at Periyolaki, Greece, with an Air Force Communications Service unit is Ma. Sgt. Donald A. Anible, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle C. Anible of Romulus.

Sgt. Anible, a radio relay equipment technician serving as a detachment commander, was previously assigned at Hot Springs Air National Guard Base, Ark.

The sergeant graduated from high school in 1962 at Monroe.

Pvt. Charles R. Cleavinger, whose sister, Carol Castle, lives on Dakota in Ypsilanti, recently completed training as a cannoneer under the One Station Unit Training (OSUT) Program at Fort Sill, Okla.

OSUT is a 13-week period which combines basic combat training with advanced individual training.

Students learned the duties of a howitzer or gun section crewman and received instruction in handling ammunition, setting fuses and preparing charges, communications and maintenance.

Cleavinger, who completed the training with highest honors, entered the Army last November.

He is a 1969 graduate of Highland Park High School.

Another sister, Gail Joslyn, lives on Lake Point Drive, Belleville.

Airman 1.c. Rose Marie Chessor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernabe M. Hernandez of 76th St., Houston, Tex., is a member of an organization that has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Airman Chessor is a material facilities specialist at Grissom Air Force Base, Ind., with the 305th Air Refueling Wing which was cited for meritorious service from July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1977.

The airman is a 1975 graduate of Stephen F. Austin High School and attended the University of Houston. Her husband, Charles, is the son of Mrs. Richard Guyot of King Road, Romulus.

Senior Airman Terry B. Stevens, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen B. Stevens of 15425 Oakbrook, Romulus, is a member of an organization that has earned its third award of the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Airman Stevens is a programs and work control specialist at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Mich., with the 379th Civil Engineering Squadron which was cited for meritorious service from July 1, 1976 to June 30, 1977.

Members of the 379th will war a distinctive ribbon to mark their affiliation with the unit.

The airman is a 1972 graduate of Romulus High School.

Cake cutting

Wayne County Commissioner Edgar Harris of Taylor was on hand recently to help serve cake at a county-sponsord Michigan Week celebration for senior citizens. The cake was donated by the Livonia Danish Bakery. Joining the commissioner (center) for the cake cuting at the Senior Citizens J Building Center in Westland were Mrs. Eunice Riley (from left), Mrs. Bernadine Murray and Mrs. Billie Runyan, all of Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George Liverence and Helene Paine, all of Romulus.

Summer writing unit appeals to all ages

According to its coordinator, Schoolcraft Community College's second Summer Writing and Arts Festival promises "activities for artists, writers and citizens of all ages."

That's the word from Arthur J. Lindenberg, who has scheduled more than half a dozen new offerings for writing and arts festival, July 3-28, on the Schoolcraft campus.

"In addition to writer's workshops, public poetry readings, and art exhibitions," Lindenberg said, "we are offering exciting things in theatre, basketry, photography and printmaking.

"We'll also have a practicum in professional marionette theatre, which I feel elementary teachers, especially, could find helpful."

The practicum will be taught by Raymond Masters from 6 to 10 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday evenings. It will cover the construction and design of wooden marionettes, including their balancing and stringing. A number of meetings will be held in Master's studio in Plymouth.

The basketry workshop meets from 6 to 10 p.m. on Thursdays and will be taught by Theresa Ohna. It will cover the making of reed, splint and Indian-style coil baskets.

John Stehney will teach an advanced photographic techniques workshop which will meet from 6 to 10 p.m. Monday and 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday evenings. Not a course for beginners, it will cover advanced concepts and procedures relating to film, composition and laboratory techniques.

In addition to those named, including festival coordinator Lindenberg who teaches fiction and poetry, the faculty consists of Daniel Minock, poetry; Deborah Richardson, poetry and fiction; Robert Dufort, graphics, and Bob Gregory, theatre.

Four atrtist and writers-in-residence have been announced for this summer. They are poets John Woods and Eric Greinke, photographer Lynwood Bartley, and artist Cynthia DeBolt.

For a detailed brochure which contains an enrollment application form, write or telephone Lindenberg at Schoolcraft College, Livonia, Mich. 48152. The telephone number is 591-6400, ext. 449.

Witnesses attend regional meeting

The Belleville Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, along with four other congregations in Western Wayne County recently attended a two-day regional meeting at the Witnesses' Assembly Hall in Detroit. More than 900 persons attended.

According to Paul Akers, a local elder who served as chairman, "The program really focused on sharing with others the 'good news of God's Kingdom', a real government that will exercise authority from heaven with the objective of restoring mankind to a fine relationship with God."

"The Witnesses", Akers said, "have gained a worldwide reputation for their door-to-door evangelizing work, which we feel is a Bible-based expression of neighbor love. All of us were therefore encouraged to follow the Bible example of the Apostle Paul who wrote, 'I do all things for the sake of the good news, that I might become a sharer of it with others.' " (1 Corinthians 9:23).

Editorial opinions

The citizens speak: California delivers, Michigan quivers

With California's approval of the Jarvis-Gann Tax Initiative Proposition in last week's primary balloting, a flood of supporters for the concept of tax limitation and-or reform have appeared on the scene.

Until last Tuesday's primary balloting in California, rooting out supporters for any form of tax reform would have required the services of a super sleuth. But today, politicians are standing in line to endorse the principle, and even Michigan's Governor Milliken has conceded that he will have to look seriously at some of the current proposals.

But, why has it taken so long? Why must the threat of citizens action be necessary to motivate elected leaders to provide that which they know the citizens want.?

But all's well that ends well, and when dealing with politicians, 'better late than never' is usually the best philosophy to adopt.

The danger now is that our elected officials will soon forget about the message the voters have sent and return to business as usual. It is up to the hard-pressed, tax-weary citizens of Michigan to ensure that those we elected to represent us, do.

Following approval of the 57-percent property tax cut in California, the media has apparently now made the decision that the story is worth covering, and with each passing day, more states are discussing the prospects for including tax reform questions on this year's ballots.

A recent poll by Newsweek-Gallup, revealed that a large majority of Americans surveyed favored property tax cutting amendments to state constitutions that are similar to California Proposition 13. Of the 750 persons interviewed in the national telephone survey, 57 percent said they would support such an amendment locally.

According to that poll, a majority of those surveyed felt that local governments can operate more efficiently by reducing property taxes.

Most of those interviewed felt that local tax increases were the result of higher administrative costs and unneeded government supported programs. And, 29 percent felt that local taxes could be reduced by 10 percent without seriously reducing services, and 20 percent felt that taxes could be cut by as much as 20 percent.

We feel that it was bound to happen.

Throughout western Wayne County, citizens have been vocally protesting the ever-increasing property tax burden placed on their shoulders by unresponsive and unrealistic politicans.

In Romulus, a full-scale tax revolt is in progress, the result of city-wide reassessment. In Wayne, arguments continue over the Tax Board of Review's treatment of several businesses. In Inkster, citizens are up in arms over the prospect of having to pay an additional 1.7 mills in the coming year. In Westland, citizens are facing the possibility of having to cough up an additional $60 per household to cover the impending 4½-mill increase that will be necessary to enclose open drainage in that city. In Belleville, citizens face the prospect of losing most of their athletic coaches who have resigned over the earmarking of newly passed school millage funds. In Canton Township, citizens are hard pressed to pay for even the most basic community needs, and the full time police force will add even additional burdens to their shoulders.

Everywhere, citizens are protesting the almost staggering burden placed on them through the property tax, and unfortunately in most areas, politicians have tuned a deaf ear.

There is no reason for elected officials to continue to ignore the wishes of the voters.

Currently, within Michigan there are three groups seeking signatures to get their tax initiative proposals on the fall ballot.

Clearly in the lead is the Southfield based group calling itself Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation.

Taxpayers United would limit state spending to a fixed percentage of gross state income. This is not a tax rollback proposal like the California Jarvis-Gann Initiative.

A second group, headed by Bob Tisch of Laingsburg, Mich. is stumping for the Tisch Petition which would cut property taxes in half by next year and provide state voters with full control over state spending, and consequently, property taxes.

A third group, operating out of Grand Rapids, is also circulating petitions to get a Jarvis type tax initiative proposal placed on the fall ballot.

The message should be clear to all Michigan elected officials. The citizens of this state have reached the breaking point.

While we, and the citizens of the state, appreciate the Governor's willingness to consider tax reform proposals, that is not good enough.

Not only does the Governor have an obligation to represent the people he was elected to serve, but the state Legislature also has that obligation.

This will most certainly be an interesting election year. We think it is time for our elected officials to finally take the lead. We urge the lawmakers to restore confidence in the system, and to bite the bullet and pass legislation which would drastically reduce property taxes and state spending.

There is no longer any question about what the citizens would prefer. The only question is whether our elected leaders will once again find themselves simply following. We hope not!

From Romulus City Hall

Aftermath of Tax Revolution

WILLIAM M. OAKLEY
Mayor, City of Romulus

As everyone who has picked up a paper or watched TV within the past week is aware, California voters recently mandated a large rollback in property taxes by overwhelmingly passing proposition 13, by a margin of 4.2 to 2.3 million votes.

In the most radical slash in property taxes since the Depression, Californians voted themselves a 57 percent cut, more than $7 billion state-wide in property taxes, while further mandating that any local tax thereafter may increase no more than 2 percent per year.

According to most political thinkers this action heralds the start of a nationwide tax revolt whose effect and implications rival the Boston Tea Paty in importance to the future of our nation.

While I'm not in a position to predict the future, I do believe the California landslide marks the beginning of the end to ever-expanding, ever-increasing government, at all levels.

Government exists only to serve the will of the people. However, too many times in the past, entrenched politicians have tended to forget to whom they owe their true allegiance.

Given the magnitude of the California vote, that attitude will rapidly change across the nation, or a lot of politicians will be seeking alternative careers.

Back in March, when we first received our property reassessments in Romulus, genuine messages of hardship and cries of frustration were heard at city hall and across the city.

At that time, I listened to the collective voice of the people, and took action by establishing the Mayor's Reassessment Review Committee charged with conducting an independent investigation of the re-assessment; proposed and presented a balanced budget that represents a reduction in city millage, and openly endorsed a little-known Southfield group working for tax reform, called Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation.

That group has since collected 200,000 of the 266,000 signatures needed to place a tax limitation proposal on the November ballot. Similar movements are now underway in 25 other states, with that number likely to increase.

I took those steps because of my firm belief that government should be a tool of the majority of the people and exists to serve and answer their needs.

While some criticized my support of the Taxpayer United group, I strongly believed that basic tax reform was needed in this state, and early-on supported their efforts.

After proposition 13, politicians now must realize how basic and deep-seated is the public reaction against our "over-governed" society.

The winds of tax revolt generated in the west will rise up and sweep the country soon. I welcome the change and the challenge it will bring. We will soon learn we can do without some of the programs thought essential in the past.

We are coming to recognize, to quote economist Milton Friedman, "that throwing government money at problems has a way of making them worse, not better; that people are likely to get more out of spending their own money than out of turning it over to bureaucrats to spend."

Perhaps President Thomas Jefferson expressed it best when he said, "Be thankful you're not getting all the government you're paying for."

Editor's Log

Two who affected a lifetime

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

For some, the month of June represents the beginning of summer. For others, it represents the end of an experience, an experience that will have paved the road to success, failure, or a life time of mediocrity.

This week's traditional graduation ceremonies, will close this latest chapter in the continuing saga of "Student versus the establishment", and for many, the difference between success and failure was and is directly related to the sacrifice and dedication of a few good teachers.

I was reminded of the days spent in school by my recent experience as the guest speaker at a local high school commencment.

While I am forced to admit that the role of commencment speaker is not one I had ever anticipated, the experience was one I will not quickly forget. But more importantly, I relearned and recalled the extraordinary good luck I had in high school which found me in the company of not one, but two exceptional people who also happened to be teachers.

I would like to devote this week's column to those two fine people, who probably had more influence on my life than they will ever realize.

At Fordson High in 1954, John P. Romanow was principal, Nelly Driese was an English teacher, and I was a senior.

My academic achievement in high school would not have been considered spectacular in spite of the protestations from both Mrs. Driese and Mr. Romanow that I had a fine mind and was capable of much more than I was producing.

As principal of the school, Mr. Romanow had the dubious honor of my company on more occasions than he would have liked, since I was utilizing that 'fine mind' to explore any and all possible loop holes in school procedures that would work to my advantage.

I can still recall today the many conversations with him, and his continuing positive approach toward the 'kid' who must have been straining his patience to the near breaking point.

Mrs. Driese, on the other hand, had little choice in exercizing control over the frequency of our get togethers. It had been her misfortune to be assigned to instruct an English class which I had found no loop hole to avoid.

It was obvious from the first day in her class that she was doing something she enjoyed and felt was important. Unfortunately, all of her students did not share her enthusiasm for the subject.

In spite of the obvious handicap, Mrs. Driese was able to generate within me a feeling for the subject which I carry with me to this day.

No, looking back at that time in my life, I am convinced that Mr. Romanow and Mrs. Driese did not realize the impact they had on my life. But those two dedicated teachers have left a lasting impression.

Today, I consider myself the beneficiary of that extraordinary good luck which brought us together.

In concluding my remarks to that high school graduation class, I closed by asking the students to thank the teachers and parents who had made such a substantial investment in their furtures. I can do no less.

Thank you Mr. Romanow; thank you Mrs. Driese.

The lessons you taught were not always the lessons learned, but I will rembember them well. They really were more important than just English!

Tisch petition supported by Jarvis!

To the Editor:

All citizens of Michigan who are concerned about unreasonable property tax assessment increases each year may help to lower their property taxes.

The statewide Tisch Petition drive to put an amendment on the election ballot in November to CUT property taxes is endorsed by the "Coalition for Property Tax Reform in Michigan," a statewide, non-profit, non-partisan group, and is picking up steam across Michigan.

Howard Jarvis, the successful leader of the California Property Tax Revolt, says that the Tisch Petition is the only proposition he supports for Michigan.

The Tisch petition will: (1) CUT PROPERTY TAX assessments IN HALF next year. (2) LIMIT tax value INCREASES to 2½ percent a YEAR. (3) State INCOME TAX INCREASES STOPPED AT 5.6 percent. (4) Local VOTER CONTROL and full state funding of state funding of state ordered programs.

All voters who would like to CUT their property taxes next year should send a 15 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Robert E. Tisch, Box 381 Laingsburg, 48848, for copies of the petition.

Many people are needed to sign and circulate petitions (partially filled petitions count) between now and July 1 to place this amendment on the ballot. You do have a choice.

Help yourself. Write Bob Tisch today. Time is short.

Reader comments on Belleville AFC home

To the Editor:

I'm writing this letter only because, I too, have the last name 'Stabnau'.

I have nothing but compassion for those less fortunate. Many of our friends and aquaintances have retarded or emotionally disturbed children.

Oddly enough, I did sign Coreen Stabnau's petition. However, as I told her, not because I'm against the A.F.C. Home considered being located in the City of Belleville, Only because I'm not in favor of the location.

Columbia Avenue is one of the heaviest travelled streets in the City of Belleville. The house is set just a few feet back from this busy street and, the structure is an older two story frame home. In case of fire etc., would this less fortunate type person be able to escape?

The residents I know living on Columbia Avenue certainly don't seem hostile. I personally think this is a case where they are fearing the unknown. I have lived next door to a very dear retarded lady for 25 years and it certainly has never been frightening in any way. In fact it has been very rewarding.

Count your blessings.

Group mounts drive to raise the drinking age

To the Editor:

As one of the Co-Chairmen of the Coalition for 21, the broad based group of Michigan citizens who have organized for the purpose of raising the state's legal drinking age to 21, I want to take this means to tell your readers that signatures may still be sent in to the addresses on the petition forms.

Rumors that the drive to put the drinking age question on the ballot is ended are not true. The effort is still underway and alive!

Any signatures that have been collected should be sent in. They can still count and are needed.

Persons wishing petitions or other materials or who have questions should write or phone one of our headquarters:

'Grandma is a fink'

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

When my son's voice came over the telephone asking what I was going to be doing on the first weekend in June, I was crazy enough to think he was going to invite me somewhere.

"Nothing," I sang over the wire.

"Good," he answered, "then you won't mind watching Jason for four days."

Now what is a grandmother to do? Especially if she doesn't have high blood pressure, or arthritis or anything like that?

"Wellll," I said hesitantly. "I was going to go to the girls sewing bee at the church..."

"Mother," he shouted. "You don't even know which end of a needle you thread."

"But I could learn," I said.

What finally happened was that I drove my kid and his wife to the train station for four-days in Toronto and in the fifteen seconds after they boarded the train I dragged their kid out from under the wheels of the train, pulled him off the top of the flag pole outside the station, and defrosted his tongue aftr he licked a chunk of ice lying by the railroad track.

I could see it was going to be an active weekend.

There were moments of bliss, however. It had been a long time since a little boy sat on the kitchen sink chomping on an apple and asking philosophical questions, like, "How do you know God is invisible?"

"You can't see him, can you?" I answered.

"Sure, I can," he said with his mouth full.

"Where?" I asked, full of curiosity.

The little kid chewed away for awhile, his eyes looking through and beyond me, and then he said,

"God said I'm not supposed to tell."

The sun had just crept over the horizon on Sunday morning when a big voice shouted in my ear, "Do you expect to sleep all day?"

The kid's grandfather, who had spent the four days hidden away on the 19th hole at the golf course, leaped out of bed and shouted, "That's it, kid. Wake up Grandma. She'd sleep all day if we men didn't roust her out."

It was when he saw my haggard look that he felt a stab of compassion, so he said he would take us out to breakfast.

Being a magnanimous grandfather who had sunk a 15 foot putt the day before, he suggested we take Mike... the grandson who lives just around the corner.

So there we were in a restaurant with two super-charged kids sending vocabularic vollies back and forth across the sugar bowl.

"Grandma is a fink...yehhhhhhh...." And both little kids would collapse.

"Grandpa ia a schussssss....." More laughing collapses. It took Grandpa right through the bacon and eggs to get those kids quieted down. And it was done. Everything was quiet. The diners had gone back to eating, and the waitress had finally found nerve to approach our table with another pot of coffee.

And then it happened. Piercing the quiet came a shout from Jason.

"Know what I'm gonna do, Mike?"

"What?"

"I'm gonna pull off Grandma's wig!"

And he did.

Anti-smoking, tobacco growing, all big business

By LES KINSOLVING

It was on the very same historic day that the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare called for a $23,000,000 campaign to persuade Americans to stop smoking, which he termed "slow-motion suicide."

At the White House, President Carter's News Secretary, Jody Powell, was smoking heavily.

This slow-motion suicide was at least understandable—even if not very consistent to Califano's Twenty-Three-Million-Dollar-Plan.

For Jody had been subjected to 37 questions in a row regarding the Administration's scandalous intent to fire a U.S. Attorney (Republican) in Philadelphia—who is currently investigating two of Pennsylvania's Democratic Congressmen, and who has convicted other Democratic political leaders.

Jody's rather tortured logic was offered up to a thoroughly skeptical press corps. He contended that Jimmy Carter's campaign promise to depoliticize the Justice Department cannot be regarded as broken (simply because Attorney General Bell has been replacing the Republican U.S. Attorneys with Democrats)—"...unless we appoint someone who is not as well qualified and if we make an appointment in which it appears that politics were given consideration over merit."

As he is a young man of above-average intelligence, Jody Powell was well aware that the press corps had not swallowed any part of this brand of baloney. And so, having exhausted the interrogators with several variations of this pious claptrap, he lit up another Califano Coffin Nail. At precisely this point—when Powell was in mid-inhale—reporter Mark Walton of Independent TV offered the following question:

"Califano is now launching a $23 million war against smoking. What is the Administration's reconciliation—" (Laughter) —"of spending $90 million a year the other way around?"

The "other way around" referred to the $76,000,000 Federal tobacco loan program—which costs an additional $11 million to administer. Moreover, Agriculture Department Spokesman Richard Cook told this column:

"This government is making a hell of a lot of money on tobacco —$6.1 billion in excise taxes. We aren't in the health business and we don't think Califano is in the farm business."

When asked about the more-than-apparent contradiction of $23 million to contend against the same weed that we are providing $90 million to subsidize, the President's cornered spokesman promptly put his Good Ole Boy wit into high gear.

"We all perhaps are aware, whether we act on it or not, of the possible dangers of over-consumption of cigarettes, or alcohol, or a number of other, to some of us, pleasurable things." (Laughter) "I know it is not the view of this administration that we should impose upon the, I think, several tens of thousands of families and large numbers of communities whose economic future would be ruined if we terminated the farm program with regard to tobacco."

I was so moved by this eloquent defense of hearths and homes (upon which The Villain Califano would seek to foreclose—in a $23 million campaign) that I asked:

"So, in your consumption of two packs a day, you are actually supporting a basic crop of America? Is that right, Jody? Or do you consume that much? How much tobacco do you consume as a leading spokesman of the Carter Administration which wants to spend $23 million against tobacco?"

Powell's eyes narrowed and he grinned slightly—a warning sign which I should have detected.

"It actually depends, Les, on two things," he replied. "One is how long the briefings are and the other is whether you are here or not." (Laughter).

He was then asked: "Jody, are you saying that the President sees no contradiction in a massive campaign to stop smoking—and on the other hand to subsidize tobacco?"

THE WHITE HOUSE: No. Yes. I am saying—

QUESTION: The taxpayer's money is going in two ways here.

THE WHITE HOUSE: What I am saying is that the Administration does not feel there is any logic in asking these thousands of families and communities to bear the burden of economic ruin...-

QUESTION: But you do hope people stop smoking?

THE WHITE HOUSE: Well, yes. (Laughter.)

QUESTION: Starting up there? (At the podium of the press room, where Powell was holding an unlit cigarette.)

THE WHITE HOUSE: I am in a very difficult personal position here; yes. (Laughter.)

In June, Secretary of Agriculture Robert Bergland told a TV network:

"I am not going to get into the business of whether tobacco is healthy or unsafe."

But Secretary of the Treasury Michael Blumenthal may have to provide, $23 million to fight tobacco and $90 million to subsidize it, in accordance with the leadership of the Carter Administration.

Health Beat

Heroin addict talks

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

One evening last week, I sat down with five young people for a rap session. We were in the rec room of a typical suburban home in a Western Wayne County city.

The youngsters, all high school students, agreed to fill me in on the local dope scene as long as I promised to respect their anonymity. The bargain was struck, and what follows is some interesting copy--interesting, and for me, eye opening.

If you've got the money to pay for it, you can purchase any drug you wish: the market seems to be inexhaustible.

"I can get you quads, angel dust, mescaline, cocaine, heroin, LSD, or all the pot you want--and I can get it in 30 minutes or so," said one young man. There was agreement from the other participants that indeed what the young man said was absolutely true.

LSD, properly know as lysergic acid diethylamide, is a mind-bending chemical which is evidently experiencing a resurgence in popularity after falling off the 'top 10 on the drug hit parade'. It's a dangerous drug, but for whatever reasons it seems to have some appeal to certain psyches.

Why do some people play a form of Russian roulette with such dangerous chemicals?

"Well, I won't touch any of that hard stuff," said one young lady. "Pot and beer do the job pretty well. Only the real flakes are into the dangerous stuff."

Why then even the pot and beer?

"Why not. It's not going to hurt you much and it's fun to get high," was one reply.

We were beginning to zero in one something interesting.

It's fun to get high.

It appears, and this seemed to be a common thread woven throughout the long session, that young people have not got enough to do. And they don't seem capable of conjuring up things to do. Today's young people have to exist in a different environment than the one I knew as a 17-year old.

And possibly of greater significance, the youngster of the 1970's certainly has much more money than his counterpart of the 1940's. Even if a teenager in 1940 felt tempted to smoke pot, the odds were that the teenager didn't have two nickels ro rub together at any one time; ergo, there was precious little of that activity, because there was no money to support such behavior.

Although one young girl said that pot was getting too expensive so she has stopped using it regularly: "Just an occasional joint once in a while with some of my friends."

One of the more common phrases found in the sociology lexicon today (and perhaps even over-used) is 'peer pressure'.

"You go to a sports game of some sort, or maybe go to the park to play frisbee or just to spend some time rapping with friends.

Someone has a joint and starts passing it around. That's peer pressure. If you don't take a tonk on the joint, you might lose status in front of your peers. Besides, everyone else is doing it and you want to get on the bandwagon too."

A young man said that he thought it was all right to use pot, as long as you didn't abuse it (his definition of abuse was more than two joints in an evening). He also said that "pot won't hurt you."

Almost in concert, two or three of the group disputed his contention.

"You can't say that, because you don't really know if it's true," they sang out. That was an interesting event. To have someone who uses pot actually admit that perhaps it's not the best thing physically to do to your body, is tantamount to an alcoholic admitting that booze is contraindicated.

The young people agreed unanimously that they felt that pot ought to be decriminalized.

"Make it legal and put a tax on it just like you do on beer and other alcoholic drinks.

Society is really hypocritical. People get drunk and raise all kinds of hell.

Everyone laughs and kids about the hangover and that's the end of it. Yet, get caught smoking one joint and you are called a dope fiend or something equally bad.

Nuts to that kind of a society."

Next week we will conclude this series, and will write about some more of the feelings and complaints expressed by this particular group of young people.

For 4-day celebration

Michigan's arts take over Hart Plaza

Folk, blue grass and music, minstrel shows, choirs and a Scottish bagpipe band are among a sampling of the arts activities that will be at the Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit this weekend.

A Celebration of the Arts, a four-day festival, offers area residents an opportunity to see and hear the best of state arts talents - and it's all free.

The celebration is a portion of the first Michigan Congress on the Arts, which will bring together state arts supporters to improve the cultural environment of Michigan. The celebration is sponsored by the Michigan Council for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Thursday's program will open with the St. Andrews Pipe Band (at 7 p.m.), which will lead a promenade from the Michigan ARTRAIN opening at the Grand Trunk Railroad Depot to Hart Plaza.

On Friday Larry Weinstein, winner of the Prix d'Excellence, Netherlands, will present a carillon concert at 11 a.m.

At 1 p.m. Saturday it will be the Bethel Pentecostal Choir of Grand Rapids, from 4 to 10 p.m. folk and bluegrass music in the Pyramid Theatre and at 4 p.m. Mary Roberts will perform her own works.

Duo guitarists, Gemini, will will perform her own works. Duo guitarists, Gemini, will perform at 5 p.m., followed by Sweet Corn from Kalamazoo at 6 p.m., the Kenneth Jewelle Chorale and duo pianists The Haddens at 7:30 p.m.

Sunday's program will start out at 6 p.m. with Percy "Mr. Dones" Danforth, a one-man minstrel show accompanied by Vincent Tufo, fiddler, and Debbie Lowe, pianist. Pat Paulsen will be there at 6:30 p.m. followed by Eugene Cox on the dulcimer at 7 p.m.

But that's not all that will be happening in downtown Detroit during the celebration. The Michigan ARTRAIN, the six-railroad car mobile art museum, will be open Thursday through Sunday at the Grand Trunk Railroad Depot adjacent to the Renaissance Center. The hours will be 7 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday, and 12 noon to 2 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. Friday through Sunday.

The train includes five exhibitions - Michigan at the Turn of the Centurv Folk Art Gallery, The Eye of the Camera, The American Land and The Studio Car.

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra will present a special Congressional Concert on the Hart Plaza at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. The free outdoor concert will have Werner Torkanowsky as the guest conductor. The program will feature Berloiz's Roman Carnival Overture, Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait", Strauss's "Rosenkavlier" Suite, Op. 59, and three movements from Alberto Ginastera's ballet "Estancia".

From 6 to 11 p.m. Friday the treasures of Detroit's Cultural Center will be explored during "Arts Odyssey". Sponsored by Detroit Adventure, the cultural open house will be a free arts "smorgasbord", with walking tours, special exhibitions and even an ice freeze. Highlights will include an exhibition of the works of Diego Rivera at the Institute of Arts, ethnic craft demonstrations and an exhibition of ethnic wedding customs at the International Institute.

Entertainment from around the world will fill the Hart Plaza from 7 to 11 p.m. Friday. Polish, Irish, Greek, French, Scandanavian, Slovak and African songs and dances will be presented by international troupes from around the city.

The Hellenic Society for the Performing arts will be center stage at 7 p.m. at the Amphitheatre, followed by the Echoes of the Ukraine at 7:30 p.m., Silaine-Detroit Lithuanian Folk Dance Ensemble at 8:30 p.m., "Galicja" Polish Dancers and Singers at 9:15 p.m. and "Reprise at 10 p.m.

At the Pyramid Theatre, the Fuller Ebonaire Dancers will start the program at 7 p.m., followed by the Irish Dancers, featuring Tim O'Hare, at 7:45 p.m., Swedish-Skandia Women's Chorus at 8:30 p.m., Can-Can Dancers at 9:15 p.m. and Universal Inc. (Theatrical) Production Co. at 9:45 p.m.

Detroit jazz and blues artists also will be featured during the four-day festival in free concerts at the Hart Plaza. Thursday at 10:15 p.m. Bess Bonnier and Jacl Bronkensa will perform, while Bobo Jenkins and the Blues will be center stage at 9 p.m. Saturday. Sunday it will be Tamboo Jazz at 3:30 p.m., the James Taum Trio Plus Two at 4 p.m., Austin-Moro Band at 8 p.m. and a lineup of Hal McKinney and Wendell Harrison, Sam Sanders and Visions, Lymna Woodard Organization and the Paradise Theatre Orchestra from 5 to 10 p.m.

A grab bag of children's activities will be featured as a major portion of the celebration.

Among activities of special interest are a children's paint-in sponsored by the children's Museum on the lawn of Ford Auditorium from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday through Sunday. Easels and supplies will be provided, as well as artistic assistance and helpful hints.

Celebration also will include daily puppet shows and a variety of theatrical performances of a special interest to children at the Hart Plaza from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

That's only a small portion of what will be happening in the "Celebration" Arts Festival. For futrther information contact Martha Gibiser at the Michigan Council for the Arts (313) 256-3732.

Contest winners

Mt. Pleasant Elementary School in Romulus recently concluded a book reading contest. Harley Helton finished first by reading 43 books and Amy Haapapuro was a close second with 39. Twenty-weight students read three or more books during the contest, conducted by Colleen Hisey, librarian at the school. Eager readers included Janis Haapapuro (front row, rfrom left), Susie Sandlin, Jerry Whitehill, Sandra Barr, Edyie Sandlin, Crystal Riopelle, Amy Haapapuro, Julie Willcockson, Steven Bossidis, John LaFramboise, Harley Helton, Douglas Domas, Rich Miller and librarian Hisey, Shannan Miller (back row, from left), Debbie Barr, Barbara Clark, Mary Silvey, Johnny Pagel, Kathleen Swisher, Christine McCracken, Stephanie Martino, Lori Sheldon, Cathy Gentz and Timberlea Bisson. Village's parade marks Ford's 75th

A parade and exhibit of 75 vehicles representing each year of Ford Motor Co.'s production, remarks by William Clay Ford, chairman of the Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum board of trustees and Vice President Product Design - Ford Motor Company, and performances by the Canadian Model T Assembly Team are highlights of Greenfield Village's Friday tribute to Ford Motor Company's 75th birthday. The public is invited to the festivities. There is no additional charge beyond regular village admission.

At 9:30 a.m., Ford will climb behind the wheel of a 1903 Model A that has just been assembled by "workmen" in Greefield Village's scaled-down reproduction of the auto company's first plant.

Driving the car through village streets past such family landmarks as Henry Ford's birthplace and the shop where he built his first car, Ford will lead a parade of venerable vehicles dating from 1903 to 1978 Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum President Frank Caddy will be Ford's passenger.

Following the parade at 10:30 a.m. on the Village Green, Caddy and Ford will make brief remarks. The cars will be exhibited on the green until 2 p.m. Complimentary anniversary cake will be served to village visitors in the Town Hall.

The Canadian Model T Assembly Team will in minutes convert a pile of parts into a running Model T in performances on the Village Green at 11:15 a.m., 12:15 and 1:15 p.m.

Arts to be on 56

Live coverage of the Michigan Congress on the Arts Celebration taking place at Detroit's riverfront Thursday through Saturday will be seen on Michigan's seven public television stations, including Channel 56 in Detroit.

Actor Michael Tolan ("The Adams Chronicles," "Loose Change"), a native Detroiter who graduated from Wayne State University, will host the coverage for the stations, tying together the many events at various sites with his commentary and interviews.

The stations are bringing in their people and equipment to present highlights for three hours nightly (8 to 11 p.m.) of each day's drama, dance, musical performances, exhibits and hearings into the future of the arts in Michigan.

Some of the major events during the arts program include the arrival of Pat Paulsen and the Michigan Artrain into the Grand Trunk siding next to the RenCen; Michigan Opera Theatre's performance of highlights from its season; and a walking tour of Detroit's artistic and cultural treasures.

There will be more than 70 performing groups from around the state, including the Boarshead Theatre Players from Lansing, the Avanti String Quartet from Battle Creek, and African, Indian, Irish, Polish and Ukrainian dancers.

The Arts Congress marks the completion of a year-long study by the Michigan Council for the Arts of the most crucial issues facing the arts of Michigan.

Some of the hearings on these problems to be covered by the PBS stations include sessions on assisting individual artists.

TODAY'S Real Estate

by M. Phyllis Crabtree
Your house should provide a safe environment for your family and for others who may occupy it later. Think about safety when buying, building, or remodeling. The elements of design that make a house safe generally make it liveable, too. Safety sometimes can be achieved by good management, but often it simply involves inches and feet of space. Space is expensive, but so are accidents. Good arrangement of rooms and clear, free passageways between them allow safe traveling from one activity to another.
CENTURY 21 COMMUNITY REALTORS, 10675 Belleville Road, Belleville is an expert who sees, studies and sells many homes every year. Let us save you time and money by doing the work for you. 'The Power of God's Word'

The idea that the Bible, God's word, is a dead letter is extant in the world today. While many people will not openly admit they believe such to be true, their actions reflect their thinking.

In this short article we will not have time to go into detail to show that the word itself declares it is divine, still, a few things need to be brought to our attention to show just how powerful it is.

In the very beginning of the Bible we can see the creative power. Nine times in the first chapter of Genesis we read, "And God said. . . . .". Every time something came into existance as a result of his speaking. This alone should be sufficient evidence of the power of His word.

The flood in the days of Noah reveals to us the destructive power of the word. The same voice that caused the world to be created now speaks and we see the old wicked world being destroyed by water.

To further show its tremendous force Jesus said concerning His word: "It is life" John 6:63; "It is truth". . . John 17:17. Everyone is well acquainted with the potency of life and the force of truth!

Looking back at past performances of the word we note Hebrews 11:3. . ." The worlds were framed by the word of God." The creation cannot be explained in the world's wisdom. It can be only of God. In the past we call attention to the stilling of the tempest and the cleansing of the leper (Matt. 8). In the ninth chapter of the same book we read of the blind receiving their sight. Jesus spoke and the blind began to see, the leper was cleansed and the storm ceased. "What a word is this!" Luke 4:36.

While all this happened in the past, what about the word today? Does it have power or is it a dead letter? Please observe that it upholds all things. Hebrew 1:3. What a power!!

David tells us that the word is light. Ps. 119:105. All know the effect light has on darkness. Go into a dark room and turn on the light and even though it comes from a small bulb it will drive the black of darkness away. The same is true of the Bible today. Where the word goes and is received we find enlightment.

Today, the word produces faith. It is the only source of a true and satisfying faith. Where there is no word there cannot be that faith. Romans 10:17. Our faith begins and ends where the word begins and ends.

The word of God brings unity and understanding. When people "understand what the will of the Lord is", Eph. 5:19, they will see it just as the others see it who understand it. The division in the religious world is largely over what the Lord has not said. We can unite upon what is revealed — the word of God — but we will always be divided on man's teaching. The word of man is not as powerful as the word of God.

Paul tells us that the word is milk for the newborn and the weak in the family of God, but meat for those who grow stronger. What better terms reveal the efficiency of God's teaching?

But last of all in dealing with the present power of the word, let us note that is prepares us for heaven. Peter's sermon on the day of Pentecost caused about 3,000 to change their manner of life by believing in Christ, repenting of their sins and being baptized for the remission of sins. (Acts 2:38). Philip preached to one man on one occasion (Acts 8), but what effect it had! The believing Eunuch confessed his faith in Christ and was baptized. (Verse 35-39). Paul was so changed and prepared that he could view a crown of righteousness waiting for him. There are many powers in the world today, but none can surpass or even come equal to God's word.

Many words have been spoken and forgotten. They have passed on with time, but not so with God's word. It endures forever. . . "heaven and earth shall pass away but my word shall not pass away." Matt. 24:35. It shall endure forever. All the might possible cannot overthrow it. From John 5:28-29 we learn that it shall be so mighty that it will raise the dead. The righteous and the unrighteous shall be raised for their reward when the Lord speaks the word.

Jesus declared also that the words he spoke would judge the world. John 12:48. Why not live by that word today? Believe it on the basis of what it has done, yield to it and let it prepare you for better living here and for heaven after a while and then as you stand before the judge to be judged you will have no fear.

Michener surveys modern civilization and South Pacific

James Michener examines the effects of modern civilization on the people of the South Pacific on his series, "James Michener's World." This all-new episode, entitled "The South Pacific: The End of Eden?" airs June 20 at 8 p.m. on Channel 56.

Author of three books on the Pacific, "Tales of the South Pacific," "Return to Paradize" and "Hawaii," Michener concentrates on the wide variety of cultures scattered throughout these far-flung, spectacularly beautiful islands.

The Second World War helped propel the South Pacific into the Atomic Age. Standing on Guadalcanal's historic Red Beach, Michener says: "Isolated islands which had never seen a wheel suddenly became harbors for aircraft carriers...Oceania, almost overnight, began to lose its innocence and whole cutlrues stepped 50,000 years ahead."

Michener concedes that no one can predict the future for the people of the South Pacific. But one thing still remains the same. The lure of the South Pacific as an earthly paradize to the Western world is an potent as ever.

Extending halfway around the world, the regions of Oceania-melanesia (Fiji, the Solomons and New Guinea); Micronesia (the Gilberts, Marshalls and Carolines); and Polynesia (Hawaii, Tahiti, Easter Island and New Zealand) - cover a third of the earth's surface. They support eight million people with a 20 differnt forms of government and 1,200 languages.

Nature cruise planned

A nature cruise aboard the Island Queen excursion boat will be conducted at Kensington Metropark near Brighton-Milford on June 18 at 10 a.m.

Naturalist Dave Moilanen will be on board to discuss human and natural history of the area. Passengers should bring binoculars for better viewing of the aquatic wildlife that is often seen from the boat. Participants should meet at the boat rental.

There is a charge of $1 per person for this 1-hour cruise, and advance registration is required. Vehicle entry permits are required.

For information or registration contact the nature center of Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford).

Bible School set

The Romulus Weslyan Church has sent out a message: "Attention people of all ages."

The church, located at 37300 Goddard Road, Romulus, will be having a Vacation Bible School from June 26 through June 30.

Classes will be available for youngsters in nursery through the sixth grade and for teens and adults from 7 to 9 p.m. every evening.

There will be Bible studies and crafts.

For bus transportation call 941-4433, 941-4167 or 941-1511.

Timely tips for June

Lawn, garden activities grow like weeds

The gardening season is in full swing, and the list of lawn and garden activities is growing like a weed. Michigan State University Extension specialists suggest the following activities are timely this month:

— Thin vegetable seedlings to the recommended spacing.

— Weed, mulch and water the vegetable garden as needed.

— Plant Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Chinese cabbage, kale and endive for a fall vegetable crop. Continue to make small plantings of radishes and leaf lettuce for continuous harvest all summer.

— Check the garden regularly for aphids, beetles, slugs, earwigs, caterpillars, mites and other destructive pests. To keep pest numbers from getting out of hand, apply the proper controls according to label directions as soon as the infestation is apparent.

— Watch for cutworm damage at ground level on tender young vegetables. Cutworms live in the soil, coming out at night to feed on crops at the soil surface. Search for cutworms in soil near plant bases by day. Use Sevin or malathion, if chemical control is needed.

— Prevent blossom end rot in tomatoes by watering regularly during dry periods to minimize fluctuations in soil moisture.

— Late in June, fertilize asparagus. All month, watch for asparagus beetles and their larvae feeding on the ferns and laying eggs on the spears. Spray with malathion, Sevin or methoxychlor to prevent defoliation.

— Mow the lawn as often as you need to avoid cutting off more than 40 percent of the leaf surface at any one mowing.

— Give lawns a light dose of nitrogen, about one-half pound of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet.

— If white grubs are a problem in your lawn, treat with diazinon according to label directions.

— Treat fusarium blight in your lawn in late June or early July. Spray with Benomyl following label directions. Water lightly every day through September to maintain and strengthen grass plants with damaged root systems.

— Water healthy lawns once a week in dry weather. A good lawn needs about an inch of water from rain and-or supplemental watering per week. This is enough to moisten the soil to a depth of five or six inches.

— Plant petunias, moss rose (portulaca), impatiens and other annual bedding plants in prepared beds.

— Plant dahlias, tuberous begonias, callas and caladiums. Dahlias should be mulched after planting. Tall varieties should be staked at planting time. Set the stake in the soil first to avoid damaging the plant.

— Set potted azaleas into a shady spot in the garden.

— Pinch mums to encourage the plants to branch and grow bushy. To pinch, remove the top one-half inch of each shoot when the shoot is six inches long.

— Plant gladioli through the end of June for a continuous supply of cut flowers.

— Take poinsettia cuttings now for blooming plants by Christmas.

— Remove old flowers from perennials and rhododendrens after they have finished blooming.

— Plant potted roses in bud or bloom.

— Remove faded flowers and seed heads from spring flowering bulbs. Leave the foliage until it dies back. It is needed to manufacture food to build up the bulbs for next year's blossoms.

— Spray hollyhocks and delphiniums with a fungicide to prevent rust and mildew.

— Continue to spray roses with an all-purpose rose spray to protect them against insects and diseases.

— If spring bulbs performed poorly this year, they probably need thinning. Dig them up after the bulb coats turn brown and store them in a cool, dry place until fall. Then replant in a well drained spot at proper spacing and depth.

— Prune and fertilize climbing roses after they have flowered.

— Water newly planted trees and shrubs and other ornamentals as needed.

— Propagate French lilacs, forsythia, pyracantha and weigela from stem tip cuttings.

— Spray birches with lindane to control the bronze birch borer. Keep birches strong and healthy by watering and fertilizing. Strong, vigorously growing trees are less susceptible to insect attack than weak ones.

— Check newly transplanted trees to make sure they do not have pieces of rope or wire wrapped around the trunks. A rope or wire left on a tree becomes a noose that strangles it. Also check or adjust guy wires on young trees.

— If leafhoppers and plant bugs are infesting honey locust, spray with malathion or Sevin.

— Trim hedges after they have six inches of new growth. Cut off three inches.

— Check ornamentals for scale insects on foliage and wood. Control the insects while they are still in the crawling stage by spraying with malathion.

— Pick strawberries as they ripen. Remove overripe, rotten or damaged berries at the same time — they attract insects.

Lawn & Garden

Pre-vacation planning keeps plants healthy

Nobody wants to come home from vacation to a house full of dying houseplants, a wild, unkept lawn and a garden overrun with weeds and loaded with rotten produce. Avoid it all with a little pre-vacation planning and plant care.

Michigan State University horticulturists suggest that most lawns, gardens and houseplants will get by nicely on their own if you're gone for a week or less. Mow the lawn before you go, get the garden weeds under control, harvest everything that's ready and water your houseplants thoroughly before you take off. Barring unforeseen disasters like bug invasions or severe storms, your plants still should be in good shape when you return.

If you'll be gone for two or three weeks or longer, arrange for someone to mow the lawn, the horticulturists advise. A shaggy lawn is a tip-off that no one is home. Regular mowing also helps keep grass strong and healthy.

It's a good idea to invite some friends to harvest garden crops as they ripen. A neglected garden is another sign that no one is home. Also, many crops — cucumbers, peppers, summer squash, beans — will stop producing if they're allowed to mature fruits and seeds. And overripe or rotting produce will attract insects.

It would be asking a lot of even good friends to expect them to weed the garden as well as harvest it. To keep the weeds from taking over, mulch around garden crops and between rows. Watering thoroughly before you mulch will help garden plants withstand dry weather that may occur while you're gone.

Flower beds will look tidy and well tended if you remove the faded flowers and seed heads from perennials and annuals before you leave. Many flowering annuals will stop blooming and grow less vigorously if they're allowed to go to seed. Removing old flowers and seed heads will stimulate them to produce new blossoms.

Houseplants that have come outdoors for the summer will survive your absence better if they're sunk into the garden soil. This will prevent them from drying out quickly in warm summer breezes or tipping over in the wind.

It's not such a good idea to take houseplants indoors if you're not going to be home to watch for insect infestations, the MSU experts advise. Your two-or three-week vacation away from home could give a few imported insects time to turn into a full-scale invasion.

Houseplants left in the home should be thoroughly watered and placed in the bathtub or in some other humid, low-light area. The combination of high humidity and low light will conserve soil moisture and slow plant growth so plants are not so likely to need water again soon.

You also can group plants together in a low-light area, water thoroughly and cover with a clear plastic sheet to hold in moisture. Because the plastic also will hold in heat, be sure the plants are placed where the sun will not shine directly on them. Be aware, also, that the high humidity and warm temperatures under the plastic may promote or intensify some insect and disease problems.

Either of these arrangements probably will maintain houseplants for a couple of weeks, though flowering plants that need bright light may stop blooming. If you'll be gone longer than that, it might be a good idea to hire a plant sitter to check and water them as necessary. The sitter also could gather newspapers and advertising circulars that accumulate outside your door, mow the lawn, open and close drapes and shades, and set out trash and carry on other routine tasks to give your house a lived-in look.

Garden Doctor says...

This week the Garden Doctor talks about:

Q: The leaves of my maple trees have some small greenish insect on the undersides of them. Should I spray the trees?

A: Aphids, which are soft-bodied leaf sucking insects, are being found on many of the maples now. They don't kill vigorous trees but can cause leaf distortion if the population gets high. Spraying with diazinon or malathion is warranted, if the population increases to the point of causing a leaf symptom. Malathion should not be used when the temperature is over 80 degrees.

Q: Several neighboring maple trees have sparse leaves at their tops and a bumper crop of seeds. Are they diseased?

A: These symptoms are not necessarily indicative of disease, especially this spring when we're seing an abundance of seeds. There were no frosty nights during bloom to kill part of the flowers so every flower seems to have produced a seed. Because of this heavy load the tree has less energy to put into leaf formation just now. More leaves should come as the season progresses. A tree low in vigor could be helped with some fertilizer.

Q: Something is eating our vegetables during the night. A major portion or sometimes the whole plant is gone by morning. What does that?

A: The chief suspects are rabbits and ground hogs. Fence them out. A rabbit can be deterred by a fence at least 2 feet high. Bury it a couple inches at the base to keep rabbits from going under it. Ground hogs are climbers so the fence for them should be taller. The top foot should not be tacked to the post so it will flop over, thereby barring them from climbing over the top.

Slugs and cutworms also are night feeders. Slugs rarely devour entire plants during one night except for seedling lettuce. Cutworms cut the tender stems at soil level but usually leave the plant lay beside the stem.

Now is the time for propagating flowering shrubs

A never ending supply of flowering shrubs for your landscape is as close as your favorite lilac. Take cuttings now for propagation.

Michigan State University horticulturists advise taking six- to eight-inch cuttings in June from the new growth of French lilac, forsythia, weigela and pyracantha. Make each cut just below a node — where a leaf joins the stem. Revmove the leaves from the lower half of the cutting, and pinch off any flowers or flower buds.

To encourage rooting, dip the cut end of the stem in a root hormone. Every cutting you take will not form roots, so it's a good idea to take more cuttings than you think you need.

Plant cuttings in a shady spot in the garden or in a well-drained container. Water as often as necessary to keep the soil around the cuttings moist. Potted cuttings can be covered with plastic bags for the first two weeks. Punch a few holes in the bags to allow fresh air to circulate, and make sure the plastic does not touch the cuttings.

The plants should be ready for transplanting to their final growing sites after four to six weeks.

SUFFERING NEEDLESSLY?

Millions are turning to chiropractic because they are recognizing the scientific principles of nature that have made spinal adjustments effective for many conditions where other methods have failed.

The chart below shows the lateral view of the spinal column and indicates in section "A" names of the spinal nerves as they branch from the spinal cord and exit through openings between the vertebrae. All tissues, glands and organs supplied with life energy by these nerves are shown in the section marked "B" in the chart. The section marked "C" describes a partial list of the conditions and symptoms that can result when there is an absence of life in the nerves.

B. Area Supplied by Nerves	A Side View of Spine	C Results of Nerve Impingement
Blood supply to the head, the pituitary gland, the scalp, bones of the face, the brain itself, inner and middle ear, the sympathetic nervous system.	1C	Headaches, nervousness, insomnia, head colds, high blood pressure, migrane headaches, mental conditions, nervous breakdowns, amnesia, epilepsy, infantile paralysis, sleeping sickness, chronic tiredness, dizziness or vertigo, St. Vitus dance.
Eyes, optic nerve, auditory nerve, sinuses, mastoid bones, tongue, forehead.	2C	Sinus trouble, allergies, crossed eyes, deafness, crysipelas, eye troubles, earache, fainting spells, certain cases of blindness.

Sex organs, ovaries or testicles, uterus, bladder, knee.	3L	Bladder troubles, many knee pains.
Prostate gland, muscles of the lower back sciatic nerve.	4L	Sciatica, lumbago, difficult, painful or too frequent urination, backaches.
Lower legs, ankle, feet, toes, arches.	5L	Poor circulation in the legs, swollen ankles, weak ankles and arches, cold feet, weakness in the legs, leg cramps.
Hip bones, buttocks.	S	Sacroiliac condition, spinal curvatures.

SPINAL NERVE INVOLVEMENT CAUSES MANY CONDITIONS

The spinal chart shown above is directed especially to those people who have tried to regain their health through methods other than chiropractic, and have failed. That failure should not lead to discouragement, but to greater determination to discover the fundamental cause of all disease.

Since the discovery of chiropractic, no one needs to feel that he or she is destined to be sick all their life. Remember, "Where there is life there is hope and he who has hope has everything."

County to hire park attendants

Aim is to keep rec areas cleaner, safer this summer

Families using county parks in Western Wayne County-- particularly Hines Park — will enjoy cleaner, safer and better-staffed parks this summer, according to Wayne County Commissioners Thomas Presnel and R. William Joyner.

"The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has acted to provide 30 seasonal park attendants to work in the Lower and Middle Rouge Parkway for a 12-week period," said Presnell, a democrat who represents Westland and Garden City on the county board. "The new jobs will be funded with $81,185 in federal CETA money through the Wayne County Office of Manpower."

Those persons interested in the seasonal work should apply to the Wayne County Road Commision, Parks Division, which can be reached at 224-7732.

The resolution authorizing the new hiring under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) was sponsored by six Western Wayne County commissioners–Richard E. Manning (D-Redford-Livonia), Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia), Kay Beard (D-Inkster), Alex Pilch (D-Dearborn), Thomas Presnell (D-Westland) and R. William Joyner (D-Plymouth) who represents Plymouth, Belleville, Plymouth, Canton, Van Buren and Sumpter townships and a portion of Wayne.

"This is just the first portion of a plan to upgrade services for county park users, including better protection, emergency and information services," Joyner explained. "We are working with state and federal legislators and state DNR (Department of Natural Resources) officials to provide funding for additional law enforcement and recreational facilities for families and other park users."

The public safety and judiciary committee of the Board of Commissioners approved plan to increase Sheriff's patrols in Hines Park last month, but, because of the county's severe financial difficulties has not yet found funding which must come from within existing appropriations earmarked for the criminal justice system, Joyner explained.

A Hines Park Task Force was created last summer according to Presnell, because of "serious problems" at the park with drugs, rapes, assaults and harassment of families." The task force is composed of representatives from the Wayne County Road Commission, and the Parks and Recreation Department; also city and township officials, chiefs of police and civic leaders from Western Wayne County.

Presnell said the local communities bordering the parks have committed some of their CETA slots toward the newly-approved park attendant squad. He said details would be worked out with the County Office of Manpower.

Joyner said the overall duties of the park attendants would include maintenance of buildings and grounds at one of 15 assigned work sites, protection of property and the enforcement of park rules and regulations, patrolling of buildings and grounds to watch for trespassers, fires, or other irregular conditions and the reporting of same to the appropriate authorities, principally the Wayne County Sheriff's deputies, assisting park patrons in medical or other emergency situations and picking up litter and debris.

The new attendants will be highly visible in bright orange coveralls and matching hard hats.

Presnell said that the commissioners and the task force will continue to work for a better park system.

"We have future plans to develop complete recreational areas around the parks – especially as Phoenix and Newburgh Lakes are cleaned with DNR funding," he added.

"There is also a definite need for at least one park substation where people may go for information, emergency first aid assistance, to report a problem and to apply for park use permits," he added. Joyner pointed out that the idle Newburgh Road Commission Yard station would make an ideal substation.

The following part locations will be staffed with the new park attendants: Cass Benton in Northville Township; Wilcox in Plymouth; Haggerty in Plymouth Township; Newburgh and Levan Knoll in Livonia; Hawthorne Ridge in Westland; Nolar Bend, Parr Knoll, Helms Haven and the east station at Warren Valley Golf Course in Dearborn Heights; Wayne Field in Wayne; Colonial in Inkster; Venoy in Wayne and Westland; and Bell Creek and Lola Valley No. 2 in Redford.

Bill won't halt repossession when payments are withheld

With the signing of a bill May 18, designed to help consumers with car problems, Linda Joy, executive director of the Michigan Consumers Council, issued a warning to consumers.

"What has been called the auto 'lemon' bill will certainly help consumers whose automobile contracts have been sold by the dealer to a financial institution," she said. But no where in the law "does it say consumers are protected from repossession, if they stop payment on their cars when they can't get the dealer to make the proper repairs."

"The new law does say that the financial institution which bought the contract from the dealer is subject to the same claims and defenses in court that a consumer may raise if the dealer were still holding the contract.

"In other words, if the lender sues in court to collect back payments, the consumer can tell the judge payments are being withheld because the car doesn't measure up to the terms of the original agreement."

"Confusion about the new law arises," Joy said, "because many people are under the impression that in order to have something repossessed, the holder of the contract must first go to court. That is true, if the repossession would breach the peace, consequently, for most consumer items a court order is used. But for cars, it's possible to hot wire or tow them from the street or parking lot without 'breaching the peace.' This is called "self-help' reposession where, quite simply, the company helps itself to the consumer's car."

Before taking the extreme step of holding back payments, Joy urged consumers to explain their dissatisfaction to the manager or owner of the dealership.

"Often times the problem can be solved at this point," Joy said. "Most businesses want to keep their customers satisfied."

If talking to the management doesn't work, Joy said consumers should call the state's Bureau of Automotive Regulation toll-free at 1-800-292-4204.

Consumers who live in Wayne, Oakland or Macomb counties should call 357-5108.

Winter weather favored savings

One area resident in personal computations has shown that this past winter was far more favorable for energy conservation than the previous two such seasons.

R. F. Leonard, through his ATMOCOND Service, has determined that the months of January, February and March of 1978 had an average of +02.2 degrees, while the same months during the previous two seasons had a combined average of -06.0 degrees.

Leonard, who studied chemical engineering and did teaching at both the high school and college level, reached his figures through "many hours of mathematical computations". He has been working on research in his home in Detroit since the mid 1960s.

"MY ENGINE RAN WHEN IT WAS OFF

I'd switch the ignition off but the engine wouldn't stop. Instead it sputtered, rocked and coughed. Then I discovered WYNN'S® SPIT-FIRE. Now my troubles are over," writes a happy user. Wiseman's 'Welfare' will be aired on 56

"Welfare," the movie the National Observer called "an overwhelming indictment of a bureaucracy gone mad," will be shown on Channel 56 June 17 at 11 p.m. on "Film afestival with Paul Winter."

"Welfare" is the first in a series of Fred Wiseman films that will run for three consecutive Saturdays. One June 24 the Wiseman movie will be "Meat" and on July 1 it will be "Canal Zone."

"Welfare" concerns the clients and administrators of a New York City welfare center. The movie shows the confusion and intracacy of welfare system, which by its very size requires both clients and workers to move through a maze of interlocking bureaucracies.

The people in the movie are a mixture of American society — white, black, Hispanic, young and old—and the words and actions recorded in the film reflect their anger and their frustration in the face of massive red tape.

As with all of Wiseman's films, "Welfare" was filmed in black and white and has no commentator or narrator to explain the events filmed.

Lawyer turned filmmaker, Fred Wiseman made his first film in 1967, the controversial "Titicut Follies," filmed at the Massachusetts State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Wiseman has won several Emmy Awards and has been called "TV's only great documentarian" by Time magazine.

Medicare: It's treatment of renal disease

(Reprinted as a public service by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan with the permission of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Indiana.)

(Eighth in a series)

There is one special group of Medicare recipients with permanent kidney failure— whose lives depend on kidney dialysis or kidney transplants.

This is an expensive long-term medical situation requiring use of sophisticated kidney dialysis machines and the expert knowledge of renal specialists.

Medicare eligibility is restricted to three groups of people: (1) persons over the age of 65; (2) persons under 65 who have been disabled for a minimum of 24 consecutive months; and (3) persons under 65 who have worked long enough to gain Social Security credits, or their spouses or dependents.

For all purposes, almost any person with permanent kidney failure is eligible for Medicare benefits in this circumstance.

Medicare coverage in renal disability starts on the first day of the third month after the patient has begun maintenance dialysis or the first of the month before patients are scheduled to enter the hospital for a transplant.

Because of the special details in coverage of this medical problem, we are not going to try to explain all of the intricacies. However, there are some very important aspects of Medicare protection that must be remembered. They are:

(1) To be eligible to receive Medicare payments, the medical facilities you use MUST be specifically approved to provide maintenance dialysis or kidney transplant surgery. They must meet special health, safety and professional standards, regardless of whether or not they are participating institutions in other Medicare areas. Your physician can tell you whether or not a facility is approved.

(2) Payments for renal disease treatments always are made to the facility. Payment for physicians' services may be either on the assignment basis or itemized bills. However, Medicare B will pay only 80 percent of dialysis charges, you are responsible for 20 percent of these charges.

(3) Medicare Part B also will assist you in paying for self-dialysis, training for self-dialysis and even the supplies and machinery needed for self-treatment.

(4) In case of a kidney transplant operation, Medicare not only will pay for your stay but will pay all necessary hospital and medical services for the kidney donor.

(5) If there is no kidney donor available, Part A Medicare will pay for the costs of obtaining a suitable kidney for transplant and the kidney registration fee.

(6) Medicare Part B (medical) will pay for 80 percent of your surgeon's approved allowance (provided your deductible has been paid), including surgical costs for your donor during your inpatient stay. This includes the surgical procedure, post-operative care and follow-up.

There are, however, some things that Medicare cannot pay for in connection with dialysis and transplant services. They include alcohol and gauze for home use, services of an aide for home dialysis, inpatient hospital or skilled nursing facility costs when their use is for maintenance dialysis, lodging when an outpatient dialysis facility is not near your home and ordinary costs to and from dialysis.

There are many other special provisions of this renal disease protection. If you are faced with this specific long-term problem, you should check with your Social Security Administration office or the nearest Blue Cross and Blue Shield branch office for the special literature on this subject.

Commissioners back Vial of Life concept

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has approved the "Vial of Life" concept for county-wide application and is urging citizens groups to spearhead the program for saving lives in household medical emergencies.

The plan is set forth in a resolution sponsored by Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner Jr. (R-Grosse Pointe) and approved by the board's Human Resources Committee.

The Vial of Life Program involves the placing of medical information sheets for each family member in a small vial (medicine bottle) in the refrigerator, with "Vial of Life" stickers on the front door and refrigerator to signal the vial's presence to emergency crews.

The plan sets a goal of Vials of Life in all 857,000 households in Wayne County, designates the County Department of Health as the central information and referral agency and provides for a community task force to spearhead the effort.

"The Vial of Life program is simple and inexpensive, yet in the opinion of the experts, can definitely save lives in medical emergencies," Steiner commented.

Its life-saving potential is indicated by the fact that there are about 87,000 emergency ambulance runs to homes in Wayne County per year."

"Central coordination by the health department is important," Steiner added.

"We are urging all local sponsors of Vial of Life programs to use the forms approved by the Wayne County Health Department for advice in designing their forms.

"We also want to achieve uniformity in where the vials are placed in refrigerators and where the Vial of Life stickers are put so rescue squads everywhere will know where to look."

The recommendation for county-wide application of the Vial of Life program resulted from a positive evaluation of the concept by the County Public Health director, Dr. Perry Stearns, and the Detroit-Wayne County Emergency Medical Services Council.

Vial of Life programs have been initiated or are under consideration in perhaps a dozen of the 43 municipalities in Wayne County.

Handicapper mini-guide is published

Gov. William G. Milliken has announced the release of a new travel publication, "Handicapper's Mini-Guide."

"This mini-guide was prepared to assist you in selecting accommodations appropriate to your needs," Milliken wrote, introducing the guide. "Please be assured that whenever you travel in Michigan, our hospitality always will be warm and genuine."

The guide was prepared by the Travel Bureau of the Michigan Department of Commerce to assist handicapped travelers. It lists Michigan places of accommodations which have included barrier-free design for handicapped travelers in its facilities and which meet national specifications for barrier-free design. Its especially noted are parking, entrances and exists, flooring types, elevators and room asccessibility.

Included in the guide is a listing of highway rest areas which provide handicapped facilities, public transportation availibility and a bibliography of related handicapped travelers' publications.

Copies of the guide are available without charge from the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing 480909, or by phoning toll free (in Michigan) 1-800-292-2520, or (out of state) 1-800-248-5456.

Fruit and cheese are always popular as a dessert or snack; but which fruit with what cheese? There are no rules, though many people prefer melon slices with Gouda and Brick; pineapple with Monterey Jack; apples and green grapes with Provolone and Swiss; pears with Colby. Provide a generous assortment of both and do your own taste-testing.

Insurance controversy rages on

For a year now, controversy has raged in Michigan over the affordability and availability of home and auto insurance, punctuated by charges that insurers discriminate against policy-holders by "redlining" certain areas.

The House Insurance Committee is promoting an essential insurance bill (HB 6322), designed to make insurance readily available and affordable. However, the American Insurance Association reports that 95 percent of Michigan residents already find it easy and affordable to be insurance in the state.

The American Insurance Association (AIA) says that only five percent of Michigan home and auto policyholders find it necessary to get coverage in the state's residual market (the auto plan and the FAIR plan), designed to take those risks who for some reason cannot find a policy in the normal market.

The principle of insurance employs the equity system as a balance between insurance availability and pricing, and the frequency and cost of losses depicted by experience, says AIA.

In writing your insurance policy, underwriters use available statistical data to evaluate certain classifications such as sex and driving ability to establich insurance rates for everyone.

In the case of homeowners, such factors as building codes, proximity of fire departments, access to adequate water supplies, and the community's overall fire prevention programs play a vital role in the rates charged in a given territory.

The present insurance equity system is a result of concumer influence and pressure 40 years ago. At that time consumers demanded some method to fairly select prospective insureds and charge them accordingly. The insurance industry set up a territorial rating mechanism with separate classification systems for insureds within those territories, seeking to assure that no individual would be unduly penalized for the loss experience generated by a driver disproportionately involved in costly and frequent accidents.

The territorial concept allows each insurance company to compare experience in different areaas of the state. The experience is further broken down into underwriting criteria which all insurance companies use today to compare risks and to group them according to classifications.

The classifications that are given to policy holders (insureds) in the various territories are determined soley by the number of claims and cost of those claims generated in a given area.As. a result, insurance rates differ in each territory.

These territorial rating principles apply to both home and auto insurance.

Drivers are put in similar classifications with other drivers who have similar experience within a territory. It is difficult to evaluate and measure experience if a territory is too large. Conversely, too small a territory will give an inaccurate experience evaluation.

Meanwhile, premiums collected must pay for the losses experienced in each individual territory. If experience shows that claims costs and frequency are high, rates must be raised to compensate and maintain proper reserves with which to pay the losses.

Companies use territories only to break up a large area into smaller ones. Experience data is easier to record, evaluate in setting up rate levels and insure true statistical information for future rates.

The Insurance Code of Michigan requires that companies maintain adequate rates and that they not establish rates that are unfairly discriminatory. This means the rates must be adequate enough to allow the lowest premium possible and yet keep the insurance company solvent and operating. By the very nature of the insurance mechanism, companies "discriminate" in establishing rates by charging more to higher risks than to lower risks. However, they must do so fairly, based on the loss experience.

Consumers ofter misunderstand the function of territorial divisions. They often presume that all accidents occuring within their territory–even if the driver is not from their territory--are charged to their area. Actually, the insurance cost of an accident is charged against the territory of the policyholder involved in the accident for purpose of determining the area's loss experience. This is part of the insurance equity system.

Other factors also influence insurance rates in specific territories. Some companies prefer to specialize in certain kinds of insurance.

Why specialize? Simply because this allows companies to become familiar with the experience of a particular group, and base their rate differentials accordingly. It allows them to develop safety knowledge about their particular tvne of insureds and be able to help them minimize losses, which in turn helps keep rates down.

Still other factors affect insurance rates in a territory, including pays, as well as services and goods. In establishing their rates, insurance companies seek to determine the amount of money they must gather today in order to pay for lossess that will occur in the future. Their reserve must be adequate in order for them to remain in business.

Often consumer groups fail to understand the balance of the insurance equity system. Some legislators are suggesting another pricing system, one that permits insureds in areas of low losses to pay higher premiums to meet the losses in higher risk areas of classifications.

Such an approach would unequally spread the cost of insurance to insureds with good driving records or in low risk classifications. This would force the insurance industry to become a social mechanism to redistribute wealth. Such a system reverses insurance industry philosophy by penalizing the average driver and rewarding the bad driver or charging higher premiums to homeowners with low loss experience in order to subsidize those with high loss experience.

Loss prevention measures always have been recognized in rate differentials. Such a "subsidy" approach would hamper the desirability of loss prevention by insureds.

The purpose of territories, classifications and rate differentials gives the insurance industry a good method of studying loss experience and be able to use such studies. If the system were revoked, underwriters would have to find other means of measuring differences.

Energy service sets up hotline

The Energy Extension Service now is operating a new service which is available to citizens throughout the State of Michigan — an energy information "hotline".

The Energy Extension Service (EES) a division of the Energy Administration-Michigan Department of Commerce, is a federal pilot program supported by a grant from the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE).

The energy hotline provides many kinds of energy materials and information about conservation, technology, renewable resources, as well as public and private agencies.

Energy Extension Service's major objective is to aid Michigan residents with energy conservation efforts by offering public education and consumer information (Michigan is one of 10 states currently participating in this federally-monitored energy project).

The energy hotline is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The toll-free number is 1-800-292-40704.

Written requests for energy conservation information also can be sent to the Energy Extension Service, care of Clearinghouse, Michigan Department of Commerce, 210 Hollister Building,

Want impressive geraniums? Hybrid varieties are best

If you want a big, impressive-looking geranium early in the summer, buy one of the traditional varieties grown from cuttings. But, be prepared for it to decline as the summer goes by.

If you want one that grows bigger and looks better as time passes, choose one of the new hybrid geraniums grown from seed.

"Geraniums grown from cuttings usually are at their peak when you buy them in early summer," pointed out Will Carlson, Michigan State University Extension bedding plant specialist. "They tend to become less vigorous over the summer so that, by tall, they look pretty bad. "Seed geraniums, on the other hand, aren't very big or flashy-looking when you buy them, but by the end of the summer, single plants may be two feet across and still growing and blooming vigorously."

How can you tell geraniums grown from seeds rather than cuttings? Look for compact plants and single flowers.

Plant these geraniums after the danger of frost is past in the spring, Carlson advised. Use them as you would use any other sun-loving annual - in large masses for an impressive display or in combination with other annuals or perennials in beds, borders, window boxes and patio containers.

To avioid carrying disease problems over from year to year, rotate annuals the same way you move crops around in the vegetable garden, the specialist advised. If you plant geraniums in the same spot the last couple of years, use petunias or snapdragons or moss roses this year and grow geraniums in another sunny spot.

"If you can't bear tho see your geraniums get zapped by the fall frost, overwinter them," Carlson said. "Take cuttings, root them and then grow the new plants as houseplants in pots on a sunny windowsill or under artifical light. Or over-winter whole plants from the garden."

To do this, dig the plants up and hang them, bare-rooted, upside-down in a cool, dark basement. Or, dig and pot them, prune them back drastically, and gradually reduce water so that they go dormant. You can then store them in a cool, dry, dark spot until it's time to revive them next spring.

Blues show set

The blues has been called one of the purest musical forms in the world. Tuesday, June 20, at 9 p.m., B.B. King hosts a one-hour examination on the birth and development of the Mississippi Delta Blues on the program "Good Mornin' Blues."

Says B.B. King during his narration: "The real blues weren't written; they were lived. 'Cause the blues is more than music. The blues is a feeling, too...the blues is feeling low, missing a woman, needing a job, wanting to move to a better place."

These feelings were all present at Dockery's planation in the Mississippi Delta where several black workers emerged as legendary blues musicians. Those associated with Dockery's and featured in the show include Willie Brown, Son House, Charley Patton and Robert Johnson.

King says: "The blues started here (in the Delta), but the roots go much deeper." The music the blues singers set to lyrics were traditional rhythms. The ancestry of these rhythms can be traced to those of slave work songs and African tribal chants.

Many of the old-time musicians are dead and many others have taken their music north looking fo a better way of life. But King says: "Times had changed; so had the music. But the Mississippi Delta blues would nt be, could not be, forgoten."

Public TV to feature Russian dissident

Public television will cover Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's commencement address at Harvard University tonight and offer it as part of a one-hour program, to be shown at 9 p.m. on PBS and locally on Channel 56.

Solzhnitsyn's appearnace and speeach at Harvard is expected to be a political event of the first magnitude with likely focus on human relataions and detente with the Soviet Union.

"Solzhenitsyn at Harvard: A view and an Evaluation' will include a film profile of Solzhenitsyn, rebroadcast of his speech — which is scheduled to run for about 30 minutes — and post-speech analysis by Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times. Russian cellist Mstislav Rostropovitch, who first sheltered the exiled author, and journalist Hedrick Smith also are featured.

Senate reports out homeowners bill

Legislation providing Michigan citizens full coverage in homeowners insurance policies has been reported out of the Senate Commerce Committee, according to State Sen. Jack Faxon (D-Detroit), chief sponsor of the bill.

Senate Bill 1243 makes the Michigan Fair Plan responsible for giving those homeowners whose policies are cancelled or not renewed a chance to obtain full homeowners insurance coverage.

"My main concern is for the people who pay their policies for 20 or 30 years and who find themselves faced with cancellation only because of the location of their residence," Faxon said.

According to Faxon, when home insruance policies are cancelled or not renewed today, the only option available to the homeowner is to obtain insurance which covers fire damage only.

"My bill is a partial solution to the problem we've experienced in regard to various redlining practices occuring throughout our state today," Faxon said. "I am encouraged to know that when this bill becomes law, we will not have any person unprotected in their homeowners coverage.

"Full homeowners insurance coverage hasn't been available to the citizens of Detroit and other older areas of the state because there has been no legislation to require insurance companies to be accountable for their practices. The companies deny insurance because they have the right to make that denial."

"I introduced Senate Bill 1243 and a series of other redlining bills in an attempt to oversee insurance companies methods of rejecting policies and to insist that they detail their reasons for rejection and cancellation in such a way that the homeowner receives due process," Faxon said.

When insurance is not available, it is difficult for the homeowner to seel his or her property. According to Faxon, the unavailability of insurance affects the availability of mortgages.

"I think insurance is an absolute vital force in our society today. People have to be protected against catastrophic losses, both in life and in their property. Homeowners insurance is an essential part of any homeowners' existence," Faxon said. "I believe Senate Bill 1243 may not go as far as many people would like it to go, but it is a step in the right direction."

Heart attacks: Do you know what to do?

If your husband, or your wife, had a heart attack in bed tonight, would you know what to do? For that matter, would you even suspect that it was a heart attack?

"Many people," said Dr. Sol Pickard, Henry Ford Hospital cardiologist and president of the Michigan Heart Association, "do not know the warning signs of a heart attack, and many, sadly, wait until it is too late to get help.

"Heart attack warning signs often are mistaken for something minor such as indigestion or an attack of bursitis. You should know the warning signs and what to do if you or someone close to you is experiencing them.

"These are the most common signs of a heart attack:

— Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest, lasting two minutes or more

— Pain may spread to shoulders, neck or arms.

— Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath also may occur. Sharp, stabbing twinges of pain are usually not signals of a heart attack.

"You should remember these signals and know what to do if someone you are with is having them," said Dr. Pickard. "The first few hours following a heart attack are the most crucial. In fact, minutes count. During 1978, about 600,000 people in this country will have a heart attack. Of those, 350,000 will die before they reach the hospital. Many thousands of those people might be saved, if they heed the warning signals.

"First of all," warned Dr. Pickard, "expect a 'denial'. It's normal for a person to deny the possibility he is having a heart attack. But you must insist on taking prompt action.

"Call your community emergency medical service. You should have this number by your phone at all times. If you yourself can get the person to a hospital with 24-hour emergency cardiac care, do so—but under no circumstances let the person drive himself. Finally, if the person has lost consciousness and his heart has stopped beating, give mouth-to-mouth breathing and chest compression (cardiopulmonary resuscitation), if you are properly trained to do so.

"I strongly advise everyone to learn these warning signs and actions, and learn them well. Delay spells danger when it comes to a heart attack, and precious minutes can be wasted by not knowing the warning signs or what to do when they occur."

Dr. Pickard concluded: "Anyone who wants more information on these warning signs, or who would like to learn CPR should call the Michigan Heart Association. We'll be glad to answer questions and send out free literature. We'd like everyone in Michigan to know what to do in case of a heart attack. Our slogan is 'We're fighting for your life' and we really mean it."

The Michigan Heart Association is a United Way agency.

Book explains conservation

A book, designed to teach children the principles of conservation, has been published by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

Entitled "Westwind Woods," the novel was written by Thomas E. Huggler of Genesee, a freelance writer and high school English teacher who has had a long-time interest in teaching young people the importance of conservation.

In a forward to the book, Ben East of Holly, dean of America's outdoor writers, said that, in bringing out "Westwind Woods, "Huggler and MUCC "are undertaking to help with a job so big and vital that it should be the concern of every sportsman in the nation — the job of interesting young readers in the problems of conservation and in helping to solve them."

"Westwind Woods" is a story about a tract of wildland eight miles square surrounded by civilization and marked for desruction. The story spans a single year from early May to the following April. Each chapter introduces a species of wildlife and examines its habits and habitat, illustrating a key conservation theme in the process.

The role of hunting and trapping in the natural scheme is explained in a forthright manner, as are such themes as the impact of water pollution, population pressures, use of pesticides, forest fires, introduction of exotic species, land use, etc.

"This will be an invaluable tool for telling the story of conservation in classrooms throughout the country," said Terri Littrell, MUCC environmental education specialist, who has prepared a teacher's guide for use with th book. "MUCC decided to publish 'Westwind Woods' as a major effort in its continuing program of conservation education. We hope that every family in Michigan, as well as every library and elementary school, will make us of this fine new book."

"Westwind Woods" may be ordered from MUCC, Box 30235 Lansing, Mich. 48909. The cost is $2.95 per copy, postpaid. Cost for classroom orders (minimum of 20 copies) is $1.25 per copy (with a teacher's guide provided without charge). All proceeds will be used to promote MUCC's conservation programs.

Wyandotte Bank VP ABWA 'Boss of Year'

STEPHEN O. STIELER

At its Third Annual Boss Night Dinner, the Huron Valley Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA) presented its Boss of the Year Award. Each year the selection is based on competitive entries submitted by the association's members.

Announcement and presentation of the award was made by last year's recipient, Dr. Arnold D. Chornley, MD. This year's honors went to Stephen O. Stieler, Director and Senior Vice-President, Retail Operations and Administration, of Wyandotte Savings Bank.

Stieler joined the staff of WSB in 1962 as a management trainee. In 1964 he was appointed director of personnel. In 1966 he became an assistant cashier, and in 1970 was appointed assistant vice-president. He became a vice-president of the bank in 1972, senior vice-president in 1977 and director in 1978.

Stieler is a 1962 graduate of the University of Michigan and a former member of the U-M varsity football squad. He is a 1975 graduate of the Wisconsin Graduate School of Banking and has attended classes through Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American Institute of Banking.

A director and past president of both the Wyandotte Lions Club and Merchants Association of Wyandotte, he is a director and past treasurer of the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Wyandotte High School Advisory Council.

His memberships include the Wyandotte Yacht Club and Grosse Ile Country Club. He also serves on the board of management of the YMCA and as community chairman of the Boy Scouts of America Sustaining Membership.

This year's winning entry for Boss of the Year was submitted by Hazel Bigham, Manager of the Haggerty Road Office of Wyandotte Savings Bank.

The American Business Women's Association was founded in 1949, with its objective being to promote the professional, educational, cultural and social advancement of business women. Its main goal is the funding of scholarships for deserving young women.

June wedding planned

The First United Methodist Church of Belleville will be the setting June 24 for the wedding of Linda Woods Amerman of 4404 Blackberry Lane, Lansing, and Paul Howard Brunson of 16555 Glenwood, Stilwell, Kans. A former Belleville resident and graduate of Belleville High School, the bride-elect is the daughter of William Amerman and the late Althea Amerman. After receiving her high school diploma in 1974, Miss Amerman attended the University of Kansas where she will earn her bachelor of music degree in voice this year and where she affiliated with Mu Phi Episilon, international music fraternity. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and William S. Brunson of 6212 Peachtree Lane, Wichita, Kans. He holds a bachelor of arts degree in English and history and a master of business administration degree, both from the University of Kansas. A member of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity; Alpha Mu Gamma, national foreign language society; and Alpha Chi, national scholastic honorary society, he is now with IBM in Kansas City, Mo.

With the Strawberry Festival just ahead of us and all those goodies awaiting our pleasure, I decided to check out that all-American berry and see what its calorie count might be. This is for those who've vowed and re-avowed to shed that winter fat.

You'll be delighted to learn that one cup of fresh, whole strawberries, plain with no sugar, is a mere 53 calories. BUT--add a little sugar (one tablespoon's 46 calories) and you've blown the whole reason for choosing berries as a dessert. If you MUST have your fruit on the sweet side, use a sugar substitute.

Now here's the one that hurts: a piece of homemade pie--and that's a wee wedge, one-sixth of a 9-incher--adds up to 313 big C's. I won't even SUGGEST what a strawberry sundae or shortcake could "cost" you.

•••

Since we're on the subject of those "little leaches" (an apt definition of calories), there's a marvelous paperback for the serious dieter available at most book stores. It's Barbara Krause's "Calories and Carbohydrates" which lists over 8,000 brand names and basic foods with their calorie and carbohydrate count.

The 372-page reference is $2.25 and can be found at our local Fireside Book Shop in the Lakewood Shopping Center. It even lists such popular items as the Big Mac which tallies out to 561 calories.

•••

If we were running a beauty contest for lawns at this very moment, and I were a judge, the top prize, without a doubt, would go to Harry Gasidlo of East Huron River Drive in Van Buren Township.

A true labor of love, his carefully manicured yard is a pleasure to behold. (And I do so each time I drive by. So, Harry, if you've wondered who's in that blue Buick that creeps by with its driver rubbernecking, it's Yours Truly).

•••

Unfortunately, it only takes a short drive to do a complete flip-flop in emotions. How can some residents take so much pride in their surrounding while others aren't even aware that the grass and straggly dandelions on their property are nearly knee deep?

And I'm not referring to some lot out in the country. There are such eyesores right along Belleville's main arteries; an unlovely welcome to our city! Hopefully, by the time this sees print, the tumor will have been removed.

One of my pet topics (and pasttimes) is restaurants. Having my "date" of nearly 27 years as a willing participant in trying new eating places, we've managed to check out quite a few eateries.

And there are lots of favorites--the little spots like Hoppe's, Bottom of the Hill, Cracked Crab and Hungarian Kitchen as well as Haab's, Chung's Northville Charley's, Gilbert's, the Embers, etc., etc. We recently added two more with great potential but will have to give Zosia's and Aliette's another visit before commenting.

There are also those reliable eat-and-run spots (before or after shopping, a movie, whatever) and one of the best is Bill Knapp's. Not only because the food is unfailingly good, hot and reasonably priced but because it offers luncheon-sized dinners which are ideal for women.

Most gals, who simply cannot pack away a man-sized meal, feel guilty at leaving half an order (and our dining partners aren't as eager to clean up OUR plates as they used to be).

Sandwiches, salads and lighter offerings, available at all times, can suit whatever one's capacity might be at the moment.

Competent young men and women and a crew of fast-moving chefs are another plus for BK's.

Now--about their breakfasts: although a brief menu is listed, it's not one of BK's better or more generous offerings (for the tab). And that's probably because the chain doesn't open its doors until 11 a.m. and has that line of food merely as a courtesy and convenience.

Looking for a punch recipe for that upcoming open house? Here's a good one (non-alcoholic) which Grandma Smith always served on special occasions.

ETHEL'S PUNCH

2 cans frozen orange juice, 8 oz.
2 cans frozen pink lemonade, 8-oz.
12 cans water
1 large can pineapple juice, 46 oz.
2 quarts cranberry juice
3 quarts lemon-lime soda pop
2 pints raspberry sherbet

Mix first five ingredients together. Just before serving add lemon-lime soda, pouring into side of punch bowl so as not to lose fizz. Then float scoops of sherbet atop mixture. Serves 20-25 people.

•••

WILLIAM J. SZLINIS JR.

W. Szlinis graduates from CMU

Among those graduating from Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant on May 13 was William J. Szlinis Jr., the 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Szlinis Sr. of Harbor Lane, Belleville.

A 1973 alumnus of Belleville High School, Szlinis was on the Dean's List for his last semester and earned his bachelor of science degree in business administration, his major being international marketing.

The CMU graduate is currently in Alaska exploring the job market. His future plans, which are indefinite, include the possibility of following his father into law or pursuing a master's degree in finance at the University of Michigan.

Moose Lodge has busy June

The new officers of the Loyal Order of Moose, Belleville Lodge 934, are Cliff McGuire, Governor; Emmet Mills, Secretary; Edward Brendtke, Jr. Governor; Clyde Bower, Past Jr. Governor; Raymond Coron, Treasurer, and Jim Moose, Leo Rochon and Lee Jacobs, trustees.

They announce the following June activities and invite all members to attend:

June 10--Dance and "gong show."
June 17--Enrollment of new members, dinner and dancing.
June 24--Installation of new officers and chairman of the Women of the Moose (an open meeting) with dinner and dancing.

Several members and their wives attended the International Moose Convention in Chicago from June 3 to 8. Charles Morton, Past Governor, who holds various titles including Ritual Team Director, Legion 177 Ritual Director, Past North Moose and many others, received the Pilgrim Degree at Mooseheart on June 4.

On June 11 the Central Michigan Legion held a ceremonial in Morton's honor. The robing of his Pilgrim Degree will be held at a later date which will be announced in a future column, according to Lee Jacobs, publicity chairman.

RHS sewing class aids Helping Hand

For two weeks out of every semester, the students of Mrs. Phyllis Cebula's sewing class at Romulus High School, have been working on a special project for the Helping Hand, Inc. of Romulus. They have been sewing baby clothes for the baby layette program of the non-profit organization.

The Helping Hand has served Romulus and surrounding areas for several years by providing free clothing to the needy, emergency food, referrals to appropriate agencies and by acting as an advocate to assist in the solution of clients' problems.

As one of their special projects, the Helping Hand maintains a baby layette program to aid the less fortunate new mother in clothing her baby. The organization is dependent on contributions of new infant's clothes, materials and sewing supplies in order to continue. At the present time the supplies are short. Romulus Senior Citizens Club No. 1 has offered to crochet and knit items for the program and Mrs. Cebula's class is assisting by sewing, but supplies are much needed.

The Helping Hand asks that anyone interested in donating flannel, new baby clothing or sewing supplies for this cause, to please contact Florence Klein or Barbara Zagar at the Helping Hand Office at 941-5323 during regular business hours.

Honeymoon in Myrtle Beach follows Nowak-Wheelock rite

Since returning from a 10-day honeymoon in Myrtle Beach, S.C., the newly wed Lauren Gerard Nowaks have made their home on Kingsley Street in Ann Arbor.

Lynne Renee Wheelock, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wheelock of 10444 Borgman Rd., Belleville, became Mrs. Nowak in a May 6 ceremony at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

The Rev. John Kluka presided at the double ring rite before some 150 assembled relatives and friends including the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nowak of 45257 Willis Rd., Belleville.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, Lynne appeared in a toe-touching organza gown designed with a lace-frosted illusion neckline, clear full sleeves with deep lace cuffs and an A-line skirt with several bands of lace accenting the hemline.

Her silk illusion veil was caught to a little Juliet cap and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses, carnations and baby's breath with trailing stephanotis.

As maid of honor, Kathleen Memering of Belleville donned a yellow frock and matching hat embellished with yellow streamers and silk flowers which the bride had made. The bouquet she held was comprised of yellow roses and daisies, white mums, baby's breath and straw flowers.

Bridesmaids in similar costumes were Lee Ann Wheelock and Lauren Wheelock, sisters of the bride; Linda Maki Taylor, and Laurie Nowak, the bridegroom's twin sister, all of Belleville.

Robert Ware of Belleville was asked to serve as best man. Others on the esquire side were John Nowak, brother of the bridegroom; Edward McWilliams, Mark Michniewicz, and Charles Sorenson, all of Belleville.

At the reception which followed in the American Legion Hall of Ann Arbor, the 250 guests were greeted by Mrs. Wheelock in a floor-length green print gown to which she pinned her corsage of yellow roses, white carnations and baby's breath. Identical flowers accented the formal aqua gown which Mrs. Nowak chose for her son's wedding.

Both young people graduated from Belleville High School in 1975. The new Mrs. Nowak is employed by the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor where her husband is currently in his junior year, majoring in mechanical engineering.

The rehearsal party, hosted by the Thomas Nowaks, took place at the VFW Hall of Belleville.

Grecas mark 35th year of togetherness

The day of their wedding, June 3, 1943, was a happy but, at the same time, a very lonely occasion for Don Greca and Emma Feuerborn. The bridegroom, serving as an MP in New Orleans, La. during World War II, had none of his family to share in the momentous rite; they were either back in Michigan or serving themselves with various military units.

The bride, too, was without her mother, father or any close relatives who were unable to travel from Lexington, Okla. due to wartime restrictions and shortages.

So it was that complete strangers attended them at their nuptial rite held at the central altar of the cavernous St. Louis Cathedral in New Orleans.

But — 35 years, 10 children and 11 grandchildren later — the Grecas made up for their lack of pomp and comaraderie at their wartime ceremony and had one heckuva celebration on June 4, 1978.

Having renewed their vows and received a marital blessing at St. Anthony's six o'clock mass on the 3rd, they spent the following day dining, dancing and being toasted at the Tri-County Sportsmen's Club near Saline.

Adding their bit to the festivities were the Greca offspring — Don Jr., his wife, Peggy, and their four children from Saline; Emily Cotner, her husband Jerry, and their trio from Belleville; Tony and Ann Greca and son and Eddie Greca, all of Ypsilanti; David and Patricia and Charles, his wife Mary, and their son, all of Belleville; Curtis, who came in from Randolph Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas to be with his family; and Anita and Teddy of Belleville.

The celebrants also shared hugs, kisses and memories with Emma's sister, Mary Rowden, who'd traveled from Oklahoma City, Okla., as well as all five of Don's brothers and sisters and their spouses. The remainder of the 150 guests arrived from Pinconning, Pinckney, Newport, Farmington, Plymouth, Blissfield, Maybee, Monroe, Carleton, Wayne, Detroit, Milan, Romulus and Belleville.

The Grecas, who have spent all but one year of their marriage in this community, reside at 46912 Bemis Road. Don, an employee of the Ford Motor Company in Monroe, is making plans to retire in September.

Patti Perry honored at bridal shower

The second in a series of pre-nuptial parties planned for Patti Perry, who will be a summer bride, was held Thursday, June 1, at the Elwell Road home of Virginia Turney. Bonnie Moon of Saline served as co-hostess.

Festivities got underway with a buffet dinner at seven o'clock featuring a chicken casserole and assortment of salads. Wendy Turney came from Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo to assist her mother in serving.

Table appointments in a lime green and yellow color scheme included marigolds in green containers and wooden spoons tied with plaid ribbon and shafts of green wheat as place markers.

The honoree's future wedding attendants, Joy Marshall, Katherine Johnson and Jennifer Sedat, all of Ann Arbor, and Debbie Perry of Grand Blanc, were all present for the miscellaneous shower which included gifts from relatives in Texas as well as from the dozen friends in attendance.

Prizes throughout the evening went to Margaret Booker of Romulus and Dena Cicotte, Katherine Spring and Lee Smith of Belleville.

Both students at the University of Michigan, Patti and her fiance, Christopher (Kip) Godwin, are to be married August 12 at the Unitarian Church of Ann Arbor. Patti is the daughter of former Harmony Lane residents, Bob and Lucille Perry of Saline.

BHS grads earn college degrees

Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Mills of Second Street, Belleville, honored their son, Frank, at a graduation reception June 3 celebrating the receipt of his engineering degree from General Motors Institute in Flint.

On hand to give Frank a pat on the back were Debby Fredericks, Rick Sayen, his roommate; Pam Morris, Lynn and Arlene Robson, John Thompson, Margo Turpening, Ernie Beckman Jr., Hope Larson, Ernie Beckman Sr., Mike and Pam Elton and Glenn Reinhackel.

Also joining in the festivities were the honoree's brother and sisters, Melvin and Pat Mills and their trio, Jerry, Jim and Jodi; Penny and Dave Bates from Toledo; Bonnie Mills of Ypsilanti, and Judy and Bill Settles and their three, Stacie, Sheila and Scott.

Adding a special touch to the celebration was a letter of congratulations from Frank's 96-year-old grandfather, John Redlinger of Convoy, Ohio, who could not attend but wished to add his congratulations and express his admiration for his grandson's acheivement.

Mrs. A.J. Garlick returned recently from Chico, Calif. where she had attended the graduation of her daughter, Elizabeth Taylor, at California State University.

A Belleville High School alumna, "Becky" (as she was called by her friends here), received a bachelor of arts degree in English. An honor graduate, she was a member of Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society.

During her week-long stay on the West Coast, Mrs. Garlick and her daughter were guests of University President Stanford Cazier at a dinner honoring graduates with a grade point average of 3.9 or better. The twosome also visited several points of interest in Northern California including Butte Creek Canyon, San Francisco and the almond and walnut groves for which Chico is famous.

Miss Taylor's future plans call for graduate studies at California State University in Davis.

Ecology is benefiting from Air Force research and development projects: Rocket propulsion technology has fostered the charged-droplet scrubber which may one day eliminate solid air pollutants from industrial smokestacks. Positively charged water droplets trap pollutants as they fly upward in the stack, and wash them down the negatively charged walls into a drain.

Couples set altar dates

HUMPHREY - FEITEL

Two Michigan State University graduates, Susan E. Humphrey and Leonard F. Feitel, are engaged and making plans for a September wedding.

The engagement of their daughter is announced by Dr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Humphrey of 15775 Old 27 North, Marshall.

A 1972 alumna of Marshall High School, Miss Humphrey earned her bachelor of science degree in medical technology in 1977 graduating with high honors. She is also a graduate of Butterworth Hospital School of Medical Technology and is presently working at Community Hospital in Battle Creek.

The prospective bridegroom, who lives in Kalamazoo at 6035 Bluebird Court, is employed at Siegfried, Crandall, Vos and Lewis, Certified Public Accountants, there. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix F. Feitel of 11225 Morton Taylor Rd., Belleville.

A Belleville High School graudate of 1972, he received a bachelor of arts in accounting, graduating with honors from MSU in 1976. His affiliations include Beta Alpha Psi, professional organization, and the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

The United Methodist Church in Marshall has been reserved for the young couple's Sept. 16 altar date.

MISS HUMPHREY

MISS ENDICOTT

MISS DEWEY

ENDICOTT - DWORNIK

The engagement and autumn wedding plans of their daughter, Kathy Endicott, and Gary Andrew Dwornik are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Otto Endicott of 2050 Moeller Ave., Ypsilanti.

Miss Endicott and her fiance are both graduates of Belleville High School. She received her diploma with the class of 1978 and he with the class of 1976.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dwornik of 44780 Robson Rd., Belleville, the future bridegroom is employed by Andy's Excavating of Belleville, the family business.

The young couple will repeat their vows Sept. 23 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church with a reception to follow at the PNA Lodge.

DEWEY - MORIN

A September 9 wedding ceremony at St. Matthew's United Methodist Church of Ypsilanti is on the calendar for Cindi Lee Dewey of Ypsilanti and Loren Mark Morin of Belleville.

A 1975 graduate of Colerain High School in Cincinnati, Ohio, the bride-to-be is employed at the Ypsilanti K-Mart. She is the daughter of Ruth M. Dewey of 1324 Gault Dr., Ypsilanti, and Jack A. Dewey of 2996 Glenaire, Cincinnati.

Employed at Elliott Construction Company, the prospective bridegroom is a 1975 alumnus of Belleville High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Morin of 46444 Wear Rd., Belleville.

GRIFFIN - MELCHI

Conny Lee Griffin of Belleville and Gary Melchi of Ann Arbor will exchange wedding vows this summer at St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Belleville.

Announcement of their engagement and August nuptial plans comes from the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Griffin of Robson Road, Belleville.

Miss Griffin, a Belleville High School graduate, is employed at Eastern Michigan University.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Melchi of Birch Court, Belleville, are parents of the future bridegroom who graduated from Belleville High School and is now employed as a maintenance supervisor for Flying Dutchman out of Ann Arbor.

Strawberry Festival has varied activities

BELLEVILLE--It's Strawberry Festival time in the community. Greatly expanded this year, the 3-day event (June 16-18), will find many churches and civic organizations contributing to the success of the program. The Belleville United Presbyterian Church will provide free booklets explaining the what, where and when of festival activities plus a bonus of assembled recipes. In honor of Father's Day on Sunday, June 18, the First United Methodist Church of Belleville will serve a Strawberry Pancake Breakfast from 7:30 to 10 a.m. Adult portions will be $2 and children's $1.50. Everyone is welcome.

BELLEVILLE-VAN BUREN--The Van Buren-Belleville Democratic Club will meet at 8 p.m. June 20 at the VFW Hall on Bemis Road. The main topic of discussion will be endorsements of candidates who are seeking offices in the Aug. 8 primary election. The club meets on a regular basis on the third Tuesday of the month at 8 p.m. at the VFW Hall. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

BELLEVILLE--The Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce will hold a board-luncheon meeting at 12 noon June 15 at Bonanza's meeting room in the Lakewood Shopping Center. A slide presentation on tax limitation will be shown. Please call Leona at 697-7151 for reservations.

WILLOW--A family style chicken supper will be served starting at 5 p.m. June 14 at the Willow United Methodist Church, 36925 Willow Road, south of New Boston. Carryouts will also be available and the public is invited to attend.

BELLEVILLE--The Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club will hold its last meeting of the season at 6:30 p.m. June 15 at Edgemont Elementary School. The group will hold its monthly potluck supper with meat and strawberry shortcake furnished by the club. During July and August the club will meet only on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month. Potluck picnic sessions will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. at Van Buren Park. For card enthusiasts, a continual tournament will be held through the summer.

SUMPTER--The Sumpter Township Homeowners Association meets at 8 p.m. on the fourth Monday of each month. Sessions are held at the Sumpter Community Center, 24560 Sumpter Road, near Wear Road.

BELLEVILLE--The La Leche League of Belleville will hold its next meting at 7:30 p.m. June 20 at 9476 Barry Street, Romulus. All women interested in good mothering through breastfeeding are invited to attend. The topic for discussion will be the nutrition and weaning of the breastfed baby. Meetings are conducted through open discussion with light refreshments served afterwards. For further information call 697-9783 or 941-0897.

ANN ARBOR--Singles 25 and up are invited to join the happy people at the Tuesday Nite Singles on June 20 when they meet to celebrate their 16th anniversary. The dance will be held from 9 to midnight at Roma's of Ann Arbor. Frank Venice will provide dance music.

BELLEVILLE--Overeaters Anonymous, Belleville Chapter, meets each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. Call 697-7445 or 497-9339 for further information.

BELLEVILLE--Weight Watchers conducts two classes each week at Trinity Episcopal Church at the corner of Belleville Road and Venetian Avenue. The first session is at 5 p.m. and the other at 7:30 p.m. each Thursday. Weigh-in time is one-half hour before each meeting. Call 662-6566 for further information.

BELLEVILLE--The TOPS Club of Belleville (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) meets every Wednesday at the Belleville United Presbyterian Church, 11900 Belleville Road. Weigh-ins begin at 6:45 p.m. and meetings at 8 p.m.

BELLEVILLE--Bingo parties are held each Wednesday at St. Anthony's Parish. The weekly sessions begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Folta Building behind the church on West Columbia Avenue. The public is invited to attend.

EDITOR'S NOTE--It's A Date is open to all local nonprofit organizations free of charge. Information for the column should be submitted by phone or mail by the Thursday before the issue in which it is to appear. Call Suburban Living Editor, Lee Smith, at 697-9191 or mail information to 116 Fourth Street, Belleville, 48111. Items must be received by 2 p.m. on Thursday and will be repeated until outdated.

WHO WILL BE G

STRAWBER

It's now official!

Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson has proclaimed June 12-18, 1978, as Strawberry Festival Week in the city.

His official proclamation reads: "To promote a spirit of harmony among our citizens and to extend a friendly and welcoming hand to all the visitors to our city during the Belleville Stawberry Festival, I hereby proclaim the week of June 12-18, 1978, as Strawberry Festival Week in the city of Belleville."

This year's festival is anticipated to be larger than last year when some 15,000 persons flocked to gawk, eat, buy and share in the first celebration of the Belleville area as one of the largest growers of strawberries in the state.

This year, the festival will be greately expanded in scope, with at least 15 organizations on record thus far as sponsors of various events. Last year, participation was limited to the local chamber of commerce, Belleville-Ypsilanti Strawberry Growers Association and St. Anthony's Church.

Church grounds last year was the only site for the three-day celebration, but several locations will be used this year.

WBERRY FESTIVAL JUNE 16, 17, 18.

Garden wedding set

Linda Adams and Sandy Flanery announce plans for a June 17 garden wedding in Dexter. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Adams of Belleville, the bride-elect is employed by the University of Michigan. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flanery of Ypsilanti. At the present time he is employed at Bill's Firestone in Belleville. After a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the young couple will make their home in Ypsilanti.

Prevent lawn mower injuries

To avoid accidental injuries caused by power lawn mowers, think about what you,re doing!, urges Bobbi Lawrence, Washtenaw County Horticultural Agent.

"Most injuries occur when a hand or foot comes in contact with either the rotating blade or an object thrown by the blade," she says. "Some 50,000 adults and children are treated in hospital emergency rooms each year for such injuries."

Avoid injuries from objects hurled by the blades by raking the lawn free of wires, twigs, rocks and other debris before you begin to mow, Lawrence advises. Never remove the foot guards or other protective equipment on a mower. Those parts were designed for your protection.

Wear shoes that shield your feet, and handle the mower so that you minimize your chance of pushing a foot under it. Push, don't pull, a hand mower. If you're pulling it toward you and you slip, you're likely to slide under it and hit the blade.

Mow when the grass is dry, so your footing is secure. Mow across a slope with a walking mower so that you don't slip down into the machine and it can't roll downward onto you. But with a riding mower, mow up and down a slope, so the machine doesn't roll over with you. When using an electric mower, be very careful to avoid running over the cord or entangling it in the mower blades.

Always turn off the machine and disconnect the spark plug wire — or unplug if the mower is electric — when you need to unclog or adjust the machine. You disconnect the spark plug so that a slight rotation of the blade can't cause the engine to fire or restart, Lawrence explains.

Fill with gas before mowing. If it's necessary to refuel before you finish, turn the engine off and let it cool before adding fuel. Refuel a power mower outdoors and start it outdoors, rather than in a garage or basement where gas fumes and carbon monoxide would build up.

Many injuries, especially to children, occur when a riding mower backs up. Keep children and pets away from the mowing area, Lawrence urges, and look behind you every time before you back up. The only rider on a riding mower should be the operator. Extra riders, especially children, must not be allowed on riding mowers at any time.

If you are shopping for a new power mower, ask about and look for safety features such as:

— guards to keep hands and feet from coming into contact with the blade.

— "upstops" that prevent the handles from flying upward when the machine hits an obstacle.

— equipment that is reliable and easy to operate.

Read the owner's manual that comes with the machine and file it where you can find it readily, Lawrence advised. Reread it occasionally to keep your memory fresh.

"Don't wait until all else fails to follow directions," she says. "By then it may be too late."

Bride-elect is shower honoree

Gina Bacome of Rawsonville Road was guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower June 4 at the Bella Villa Clubhouse. Hostesses were members of the upcoming wedding party: Sharon Clark, who's to be maid of honor; and Pam Graves of Ann Arbor; Theresa Trammell of Ypsilanti, Karen Bacome and Kathy Burham of Belleville, and Patty Monday of Monroe.

Paper and pencil games were enjoyed and prizes awarded to the winners. A buffet luncheon featuring a specially decorated yellow and white cake was served after the honoree had opened her gifts.

Guests were present from Monroe, Ypsilanti and Belleville.

The first Congregational Church of Ypsilanti has been reserved for the July 16 wedding which will make Gina the bride of Ronald Simpson of Monroe.

PM officers installed at June meet

The June meeting of the Past Matrons Association of Belleville Chapter 73, Order Eastern Star, was held at the Bedell Street home of Past Matron Ruby Clayton on June 1.

Present for the 12:30 luncheon were 15 members and one guest, Kay Parker, Associate Matron. The group welcomed Ida Klages back from her winter stay in Florida.

During the business meeting, conducted by the vice-president Cora Bradshaw, the newly-elected president, Joyce Maki, and the secretary Elda Bohl, were installed by Florence Sugars. Devotions were in charge of the chaplain Dorothy Kellas.

Cards were signed and sent to two members, Leota Marshall and Ada Sager, who are ill. The date of the annual picnic was set for July 26 with the site to be chosen later.

Eva Lupher and Katherine Spring drew the lucky numbers for the door prizes.

Recital given by keyboard pupils

The piano pupils of Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter were presented in recital June 3 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. Each of the young people performed three numbers for the parents and friends attending.

Those participating were: Ben Griffith, April Smith, Doreen Valencourt, Michael Hunter, Toni Tipton, Kevin Valencourt, Christine Griffith, Teresa Tipton and Melodie Hatte, who received the prize awarded for the most effort and progress in the past year.

Guest of honor was Melodie's aunt, Mrs. Patricia Ross, a concert pianist from Detroit.

Refreshments were served after the program and each pupil received music to play for pleasure during the summer vacation.

Masts host 60th anniversary open house

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chapman of Ypsilanti were honored guests on Sunday, June 4, at an open house held at the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Mast of Merle Court. Co-hosting the gala affair in honor of their parent's 60th wedding anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chapman Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. William Coxford, all of Ypsilanti.

Grandchildren helped in the serving of a buffet luncheon featuring a 3-tiered wedding cake decorated in yellow and green.

Some 50 relatives and friends came from Canada, South Haven and Ypsilanti for the occasion. Pictures were taken of the four generations present.

The Chapmans were married in Montoureville, Pa. on June 4, 1918, and have been residents of Ypsilanti for many years.

On Sunday, June 4, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Thurston of Potter Drive, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stabnau of West Huron River Drive and Mrs. Natalie Coykendall of Lake View Drive were among the many friends and relatives who attended a dinner reception honoring their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Wright of Dearborn. The party, given by the family of the Wrights, was held at the Leather Bottle Inn of Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter James of Clay Road returned home on Saturday of last week after having spent a week with relatives Mr. and Mrs. Delbert James and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton James, at Middlesboro, Ky. They also spent some time on a house boat on North Lake at Lone Mountain, Tenn.

On returning home they received word of the sudden death in an auto accident of a nephew, Mickie James, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton James. Walter returned to Middlesboro to attend funeral service.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ross of Lansing were among members of the Ross family who gathered at the Liberty Street home of Mrs. D.W. (Irene) Ross for dinner on Sunday, June 4, to celebrate her birthday. She also received phone calls from her grandchildren in Virginia.

A guest this past week at the home of Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street was her aunt, Mrs. Bernice Knop of East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland Street spent last Saturday and Sunday in Bay City where they attended the Grand Commandry Knights Templar, drills and parade. They also called on friends, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Fogelsonger of Bay City and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frisbie of Clio.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKelvey of Bemis Road spent Monday in Flushing with their son, Glenn and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Road were among the 600 registered participants who attended the 15th annual Spring Festival of the Lancaster Old Car Club, Inc. It was held at the Fairfield County Fairgrounds at Lancaster, Ohio, June 3 and 4. TV coverage was exclusive.

Mrs. Mericle, manager of the KFOC Int. Seaway Region, was given the honor, as Mistress of Ceremonies, of presenting in detail the 29 Kaiser-Frazer automobiles participating in this car show, the largest of its kind in the midwest.

The Mericles received first place trophy for their 1952 Henry J.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street were among those who attended a dinner-dance honoring friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bunyea of Plymouth, on their 40th wedding anniversary. The affair, planned and given by their family, wsas held at Romanoff's Hall in Ann Arbor on Saturday evening, June 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Riggs, Miss Florence Renton of Savage Road and Mrs. Richard Hamilton of East Huron River Drive were Tuesday luncheon guest of the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wright of Ypsilanti.

Members of Belleville Chapter 73, OES, who attended the annual banquet of the Wayne County Signet Club at Schmidt House on June 4, were Connie Gubaci of Willis Road, Florence McKelvey of Bemis Road and Juanita Akers of Liberty Street.

Mrs. Joseph Spring of Liberty Street attended commencement exercises at Plymouth Canton High School on Thursday evening, June 8. Her granddaughter, Kay Elizabeth Spring, was one of the graduates.

For company dessert

When you're seeking something extra special for company dessert, make some Devonshire Cream. Stir one 8-ounce package cream cheese with ½ pint heavy cream, adding one teaspoon powdered sugar and a pinch of salt. Then beat the mixture till it forms soft peaks. Serve with fresh fruit to dip or use as frosting for angel food cake.

And the winners...

It was up to these Van Buren senior citizens to decide on the winners recently in a poster contest for Quirk Elementary School. Judges from the September Days club were Earl Hollar (from left), Rachel Hollar, Leona Agge, Cecil Hewison and Lucille Touse. They picked first, second and third place winners from each class, resulting in some 20 top winners in all. The students made the posters to advertise an ice cream social put on by the PTO. ANP photo.

Seniors pick winners in Quirk poster test

It was a tough choice, picking a handful of top winners out of 300 entries in the Quirk Elementary School poster contest, but seniors of the September Days Club met the challenge.

The seniors were asked to judge entries submitted by students in grades one through six. The students created posters to advertise an ice cream social being held at the school by the PTO. The posters were distributed throughout the community to publicize the event.

But first, they were all carted over to the social hall at the Van Buren Township Hall, so that first, second - and third - place winning posters could be picked from each class.

A select committee of five seniors viewed the creations to decide on top winners. Judges were Earl and Rachel Hollar, Leona Agge, Cecil Haewison and Lucille Touse.

The seniors meet daily to enjoy lunch together as part of a hot lunch nutrition program. About 60 persons participate Monday through Friday.

Poster judging was done at one of those lunch hours.

PTO project chairman Marge Cox said a first, second - and third - place winner was picked from each class, so that different grades would not be unfaily judged against one another. They ended up with more than 320 winners, and a lot of fun munching ice cream at the well-publicized event.

College Week can solve problem-caused problems

Persons having problems solving problems may find some solutions during College Week at Michigan State University June 19-22.

More than 1,200 persons are expected to attend the event that offers 51 classes concerning family and home living, some geared toward improving personal ability and looks.

Typical are the classes on the American diet, assertive behavior and a workshop in creative problem solving.

The class on diets is taught by Carolyn J. Lackey, MSU professor of food science and human nutrition.

"We will examine various food fads and offer scientific facts to help consumers sort fact from fancy.

We also will discus new dietary goals for the consumer as suggestioned by the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Weight Control programs," Lackey related.

Assertive behavior is that type of interpersonal behavior in which a person stands up for their legitimate rights in such a way that the rights of another person are not direct, honest, and appropriate expression of one's feelings, opinions and beliefs, related Judy Ellickson, MSU Counseling Center instructor.

The class she is teaching during College Week is designed to help participants develop more self-confidence.

"Participants will be able to define what assertive behiavor constitutes, distinguish assertive behavior from aggressive or non-assertive behavior and have several opportunities to practice developing skills in becoming assertive," she said.

"Assertive training not only involves practicing particular behaviors and skills, but also involves developing an attitude that conveys confidence in one's thoughts, opinions, beliefs and feelings," Ellickson added. "Too often we speak of improving our mind when we mean only stockpiling more information," said Dr. Gordon Rohman, MSU Lifelong Education professor. "Seldom do we think about our thinking, which is the method we use to apply information."

Rohman is the resource person for the class on creative problem solving. There are ways to practice thinking, including creative thinking, ways to produce more and better ideas to solve problems. This workshop will introduce participants to several techniques to help them work on their thinking form.

A variety of techniques will be used in the session, including mindplay, brain-storming, random word associations, analogy, matrix building and force relationships.

Other classes include sessions that will show participants how to improve their family relationship, become effective in local government activities, understand more about taxation, and more about women's rights under the law.

Details of the week's program may be obtained from the Cooperative Extension Service office or by contacting the College Week office, 202 Wills House, MSU, East Lansing 48824 (515) 355-6586.

There are things you can do to control the cost of your phone bill.

We are constantly searching for ways to help you economize on your phone service, but here are just a few ideas on how you can help yourself:

Call when it's least expensive. For example, when you're calling long distance, dial direct and plan your calls for times when the rates are lowest.

Budget Service that's really low budget! Look into the availability of Budget Service if you don't make a lot of phone calls every month. It's the least expensive one-or-two party phone service we offer.

Plan to have all your service installed in one visit. For instance, if you move, plan carefully so the installer doesn't have to make extra trips; for which you may have to pay additional charges. And while you're planning for new service, make sure it's going to be the kind most suited to your needs.

Sometimes, little tips can save you a surprising amount over the long haul. We'll keep trying to help you save.

Three new ways to save with Security

Money Market Certificate

This new Money Market Certificate enables you to earn the same rate for the same term as six-month U.S. Treasury bills. The certificate is issued for a 26-week maturity in amounts of $10,000 or more at a rate which is constant for the term of your certificate. It is established weekly, and is equal to the average yield for six-month Treasury bills in the most recent weekly auction. On May 22 the rate was 7.14%.

Your funds are available at maturity without penalty, when you can choose a new Money Market Certificate at the then prevailing rate.* For more details on how this certificate can work for you, and for the current rate, please call us at 283-5000.

7¾% Certificate of Deposit

Earn 7¾% annually on $1,000 or more with this all-new 8-year* Security Certificate of Deposit. It's an ideal plan for a guaranteed high return over a long term. Interest is paid semi-annually.

8% IRA Account

Now all Security Bank IRA deposits earn 8% interest, compounded quarterly, yielding 8.24% annually. The new rate became effective for all new and existing Individual Retirement Custodial Accounts on June 6. Security's IRA accounts feature a $25 minimum deposit, have a three-year maturity* and are automatically renewable.

For complete information on qualifications, maximum annual contributions and tax-saving features, call or visit your nearest Security office.

*Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate.

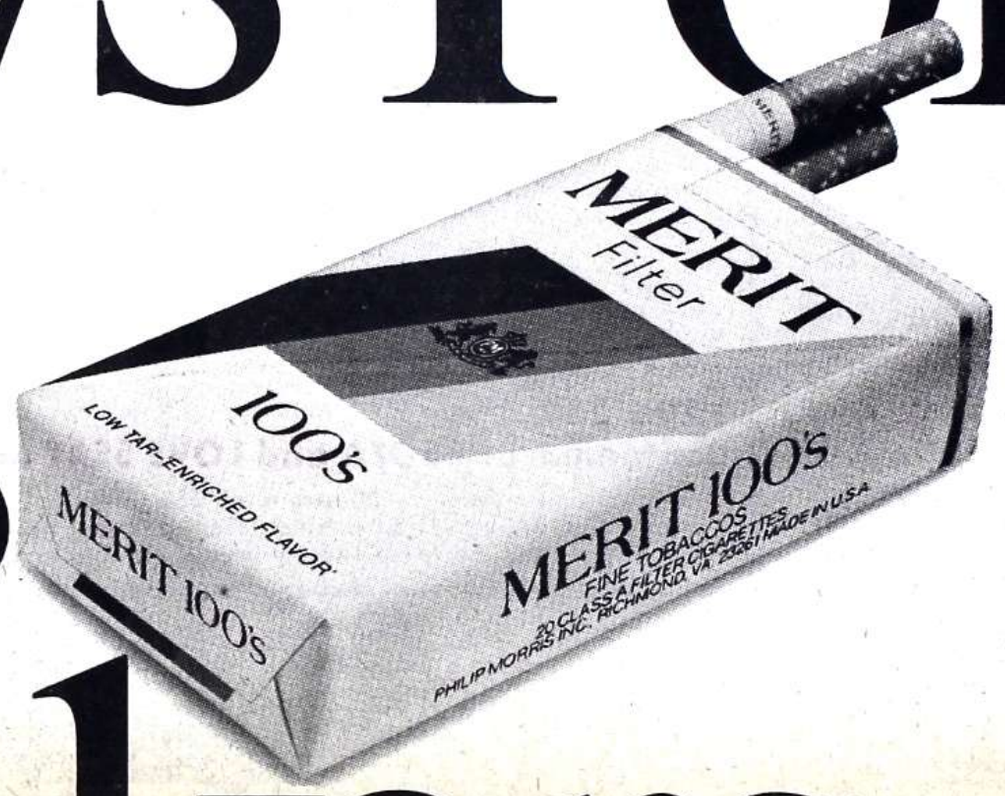
New National Smoker Study:

Important News For 100's Smokers:



Smokers rate taste of MERIT 100's equal to –or better than–leading high tar 100's.

Can low tar MERIT 100's—packed with 'Enriched Flavor'™ tobacco—measure up to the taste expectations of high tar 100's smokers?

Read the results from a new, nationwide research effort involving smokers who actually taste-tested MERIT 100's against leading high tar 100's.

Results Endorse MERIT Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of 100's smokers rate MERIT 100's taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar 100's tested! Cigarettes having up to 70% more tar.

Confirmed: Majority of 100's smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT 100's.

Detailed interviews were also conducted with current MERIT 100's smokers.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT 100's smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT 100's smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT 100's smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT 100's has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT 100's is what it claims to be: The first major alternative to high tar smoking.

Canton wins regional baseball title

Dawson shuts out Glenn in finals, 3-0

Plymouth Canton's peerless defense and Scotty Dawson's three-hit pitching performance wrecked Westland John Glenn's hopes of a Class A Regional Baseball Championship last Saturday in Wyandotte.

Dawson blanked the Westlanders 3-0 to win the title and the key to the state quarter-finals which also will be staged on Saturday in Wyandotte.

Erupting for three runs in the fifth inning, the Chiefs played near flawless ball to 'oust the Westlanders who finished the year with a 12-14 record.

Glenn and Canton clashed head-on in the finals by beating their respective opponents, Dearborn Heights Annapolis and Taylor Truman, in the first round of the regionals. Glenn dumped Annapolis 6-2, while Canton went into extra innings to get rid of Truman, also 5-2.

For the championship, Glenn mentor Norm Hoenes sent his sophomore whiz, Jimmy Blalock, to the mound. Blalock, a week before, had subdued a tough Wayne Memorial contingent 5-0.

Canton's Fred Crissey used his trump, Scotty Dawson, in the finals and Dawson responded with a three-hitter, striking out four and walking no one. He got in trouble only in the first inning when he gave up a single to Doug Martin, who stole second, then shortstop Scott Collins made an excellent play of a hard-hit John Mervyn grounder, getting Mervyn at first. Martin was left stranded at second when Dawson got the next two batters.

Blalock was tough on the Chiefs for four innings, gathering goose eggs until the bottom of the fifth when he served up a double to Craig Lee. Ray Smock then bunted him to third and with runners on first and third, Tom Norton put down a squeeze bunt, scoring the first run of the game. Collins sacrificed, scoring another run and what proved to be the final tally was put on the boards thanks to a passed ball.

"Until we entered the playoffs it had been quite a disappointing season," commented Hoenes, "but I feel that our play during the playoffs made up for it. It (the season) turned out quite well thanks to a district championship and reaching the finals where we lost to, I feel, the best team in the state this year."

Ralph McKenzie, Glenn's hottest pitcher, cooled Dearborn Heights Annapolis 6-2 on a four-hitter as he chalked up his sixth victory in seven outings. McKenzie, a righthander, notched four strikeouts and walked two.

Loser Jimmy Green gave up seven hits, while fanning six and walking two. He blew a 1-0 bottom of the second lead as the Rockets struck for three crucial runs in the top of the third.

In that inning, Jim Remington doubled, Mark Cesarz sacrificed him to third, then Doug Martin walked. Jim Irwin's single produced one run and John Mervyn sliced a two-run single to give the Rockets the lead for good.

In the fourth the Westlanders made it a 4-2 ball game as Tim Ruark singled, and was chased to second on Robertson's base hit. Remington's bunt single scored the run in that inning.

What proved to be Glenn's final two-runs of the 1978 campaign resulted in a pair of fifth inning hits after Martin had walked, Irwin again came through with a single, Mervyn singled and a Martin scored on a passed ball, Irwin came in on an infield out.

It'll be No.1 ranked Flint Southwestern vs. No.2 Plymouth Canton when the Michigan High School Athletic Association's baseball playoffs resume Saturday in the quarter-finals at Wyandotte's Memorial Stadium.

Canton, sporting a 25-4 won-lost record, earned a shot at the No.1 ranked Class A team by beating Westland John Glenn in the finals of the regional playoffs and stopping Taylor Truman in nine innings 5-2 in the first round.

In the other bracket, perennial baseball power, Hazel Park clashes with East Kentwood at noon and the two winners will meet at 3:30 p.m. to determine the quarter-final champ and the representative to the state semi-finals which will be held a week from Saturday.

Pistons pick up Johnny Long

Vitale gets his 'Thunder & Lightning' duo

Head Coach Dick Vitale, nervous as hell and unable to sleep before his first ever National Basketball Association Draft, never in his wildest dreams believed that the Detroit Pistons would have the rights to superb rebounder Terry Tyler and good-shooting John Long.

But when it was Detroit's turn to pick in the second round (numbers 23 and 29), the University of Detroit duo of "Thunder and Lightning" were reunited with their former college mentor.

"Terry Tyler is a great rebounder and John Long can add strength as a shooter," said the dynamic Pistons coach. "I am really surprised these players were available."

Both second round selections played for Vitale at the University of Detroit. There were the mainstays of teams that compiled an 86-26 record over four seasons.

Both scored more than 1,000 points through their junior seasons and they represent a turnaround for the Titan Athletic Program. Vitale, and Pistons General Manager Bob Kauffman, who scouted the two players himself, hope they can begin to do the same types of things for the Pistons.

"John and Terry are a credit to college basketball. They both have earned the right to be one of a few select players on an NBA roster," said Kauffman. We are pleased they are available and I look foward to them making a contribution to our program."

The Sports Meridian

Hour of decision

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

These are the times of sleepless nights and decision-making days for Coach Fred Crissey and prep baseball stars Scotty Collins and Jimmy Canfield.

Crissey who has shaped Plymouth Canton in a state-title contending baseball power will turn his Chiefs loose Saturday at 10 a.m. in Wyandotte Memorial Stadium against the No.1 ranked Class A team in the state this year, Flint Southwestern.

Flint is boasting a 30-3 over-all record and is the odds-on-favorite to win the Class A title this year.

"You know this Flint team isn't 'a one-shot-deal'," said Crissey. "They have an excellent program over there and have been knocking on the door to state championships for quite some time.

But Crissey's Chiefs aren't suffering from any inferiority complex either. Though the coaches' poll shows it favors Flint as "No.1", the No.2 team, according to the coaches is none other than Plymouth Canton which has an enviable 25-4 record.

The matchmakers couldn't have done a better job in setting the stage for a more suspenseful drama than Saturday's game between Canton and Flint.

Who will Crissey pitch against the powerful Flint team?

"I really don't know," Crissey answered. "And I'm not being secretative or anything. I just don't know because there are so many possibilities - but it's getting down to the time for decisions.

Will Canfield, Collins sign pro contracts?

Crissey's outstanding shortstop, Scotty Collins, and Wayne Memorial's phenomenal pitcher, Jimmy Canfield will also have to make some crucial decisions about their respective lives soon.

The big question for both players is: Should they sign pro baseball contracts or accept full-ride scholarships to blue chip universities.

Collins, a 5-11, 175-pound slugger, who is batting .474 presently, was drafted by the Baltimore Orioles in the eighth round of thesummer free-agent draft held last week, while Canfield, who was undefeated on the season (10-0) was picked up in the 17th round by the Kansas City Royals.

Is Collins going to go to college or play pro ball this year?

"I really don't know," said Crissey. "The Orioles can't approach him until after the state championships and our thoughts right now are on the playoffs. Scotty does have a full-ride to Missouri, however, and I know he's very much interested in going down there and playing ball.

Canfield has a scholarship awaitihg in Ann Arbor at the University of Michigan if he selects to delay his professional career.

Though he wasn't able for comment - the Canfields have an unlisted telephone number - Wayne Memorial Coach Jim Chronowski pointed out:

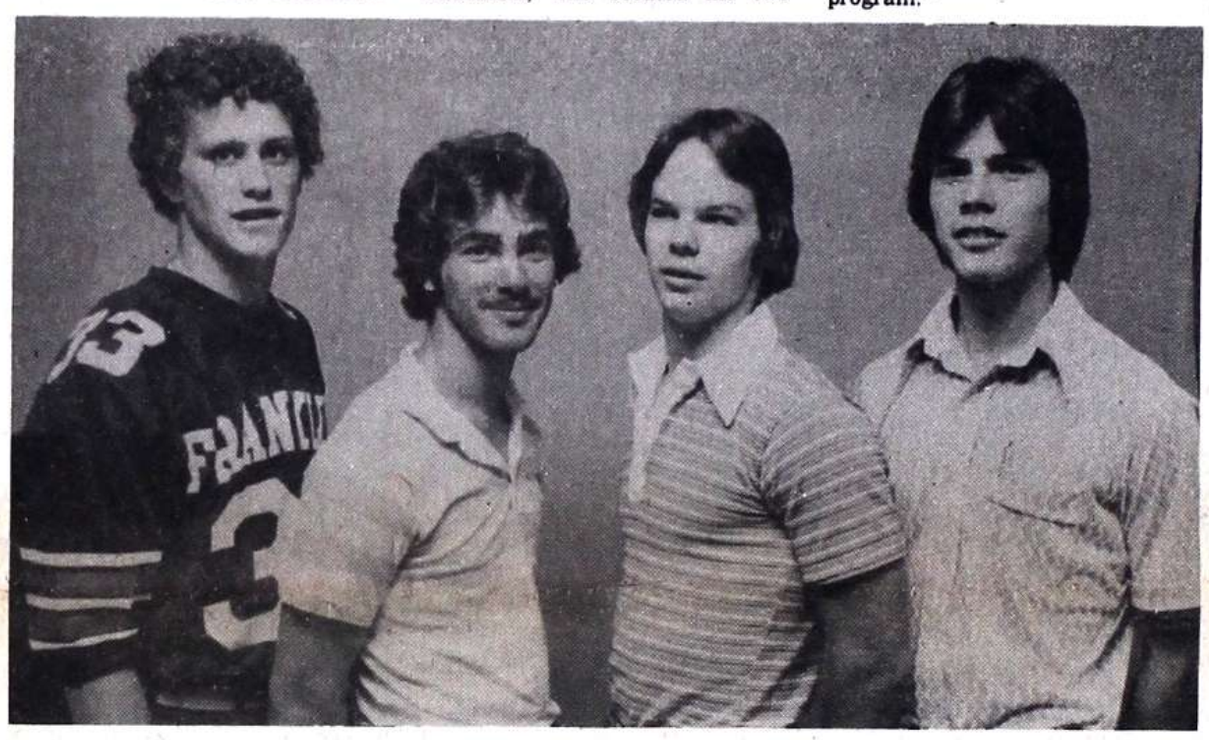
"No matter if Jim goes to school or signs professionally he should have success as a baseball pitcher."

Chronowski did express disappointment about the round Canfield was drafted. He said, "for all of the amount of man hours the scouts and the attention and Jim's excellent records and credentials, I felt he would have gone in a higher round.

"Irregardless what the scouts had seen during their one or two trips, most of the coaches who have watches Jim pitch during the years concur that he has professional capabilities."

Chronowski added, "that whether or not Jim will play professional ball this summer we'll just have to wait and see."

Decisions. Decisions. And decisions.



Fastest relays

Dolphins swim set dates

The Wayne Parks and Recreation sponsored Dolphins' Swim Club will begin the 1978 summer program on Monday at the Attwood Pool, Howe and Annapolis Road.

Coach Jim McPartlin is seeking swimmers, boys and girls, ages 6 through 18 who reside in the city of Wayne or who reside in the Wayne Memorial High attendance area for the team that competes against area communities.

All youngsters who wish to take part in the club are urged to show up at the tryouts scheduled for 9:30 a.m., Monday.

There is a $15 registration fee for old members and a $20 registration fee for new members. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Coach McPartlin at 728-0349.

FRED PRICE

Livonia Churchill track Coach Fred Price and his Chargers weren't picked to win the Western Six Conference title, a title they had in their possession for the past six years.

They also were overlooked as one of the serious contenders to win the Western Wayne Relays, the Livonia Invitational and the Class A Regionals.

But Price and his devoted crew of coaches - Bob Armstrong and Dave Westover surprised their rivals and swept all of the accolades including their seventh straight conference championship.

For his accomplishments, The Associated Newspapers are proud to select Price as the 1978 High School Area Track "Coach of the Year".

"I owe a lot of credit for the success of this team to our assistant coaches," pointed out the modest Price whose team won its first Class A Regional crown this year after finishing runners-up a couple of times and third a few times in the past. "When there were cutbacks in the system a few years ago, my assistant coaches refused to quit and helped out on a voluntary basis," Price continued.

"Most of the other schools buckled down and were forced to field teams with only one coach while Armstrong and Westover continued to handle our team and obviously it paid off for us," Price added. "I feel that the other schools are only now catching up."

Price has been fielding track teams at the Livonia-based high school since 1970 and in the eight-year span has won seven conference championships, numerous invitationals but never been able to finish atop of the regional field until this year.

"You know we didn't have what you'd call a super athlete this year but we had quantity --some 70 athletes turned out for the team --- and in quantity you're bound to find some quality athletes and even if you don't, numbers pay off in depth."

A native of Indiana, Price starred in track as a prep, running the hurdles, and competing in both the high jump and the pole vault. He was given an athletic scholarship to Spring Hill in Mobile, Alabama but later transferred to Ball State.

Price teaches physical education at Churchill and also coaches the basketball team. He's married to Linda and the Prices have to children, Greg 7, and Shannon,5.

If the Western Six figures that the Churchill title monopoly will end next year, they better forget about it - Price says he has a solid nucleus of athletes returning off of this year's team that set a point total record in retaining the conference championship.

"This has to be our best year, because no one expected these kids to do what they did," Price offered.

Track season produces its share of prep heroes

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Seldom does a sports season go by without it producing a hero.

And the recently concluded high school track & field season produced its share of outstanding performers and one in particular stands out - he's Livonia Churchill's Dave Kielty.

Kielty, a senior, always seems to come up with "that little bit of extra effort which means the difference between victory and defeat," noted Churchill Coach Fred Price.

"For example, Dave had a lot of pressure on him during the regionals. After all of the events, except the discus had been completed, he knew he had to beat a toss of 153'2" in order for us to win the regional championship and on his final toss he made it (153'10") which gave up enough points to capture our first regional title."

Kielty, who holds the Churchill school and area record with a 169 feet toss in the discus, is just one of a score of area high school athletes who are being honored today by The Associated Newspapers on the coveted 1978 All-Area Track & Field Team.

There are many others and here is the line-up: Scott Kappler, pole vault,(Plymouth Salem), Bob Dasher, shot put(Plymouth Salem), Donald Grandison, high jump (Romulus), Chris Koger, long jump (Belleville).

Also being singled out for honors on All-Area are: Rick Blaha, two-mile run(Wayne Memorial), Tim Minor, 330-yard low hurdles(Cherry Hill), Ron Mason, 880-yard run (Wayne Memorial), Keith Gillard, 100-yard dash(Inkster High), Rick Austin, 120-yard low hurdles(Livonia Churchill), Dave Bowen, 440-yard dash(Livonia Franklin), Tobin Jones, mile run (Livonia Churchill), and the 220-yard dash, Rick Fleischer (Plymouth Canton).

The top relay teams in the area are: 880-yard relay, Livonia Franklin,(Nate Kean, Jeff Williams, Paul Berry and Dave Bowen); the 440-yard relay team, Livonia Churchill,(Chuck Watkins, Bob Monohan, Steve Stchur and Doran Mason and the mile relay team - Livonia Franklin,(Nate Kean, Bill Flannigan, Paul Frusti and Dave Bowen).

Kielty finished second at the Farmington-staged Class A Regional and went on to the state where he earned a fourth place, just missing All-State consideration when he tossed the discus 161 feet, 8 inches. At the Stevenson High Relays, Dave won both the discus and the shot put and he captured both events in the Western Six, a feat he accomplished two consecutive years.

"Dave has been an outstanding performer for us for the past three years," said Price. "As a sophomore he tossed the discus 150 feet and placed seventh int the state and as a junior he went 157 feet, 1 inch. When we're in trouble we look to him for the best and he comes through - he's very competitive and do you know he can run in both the 220 and quarter-mile events."

And Kielty did all of this on a severely sprained ankle. One can only speculate what the 6'2", 205-pound athlete would have accomplished if he had been 100 percent healthy.

Grandison is a natural athlete. Though he stands 5'9", the good-looking Romulus High junior cleared 6 feet, 8 inches in the high jump and coach Al Wilkerson is looking forward to his young protege leaping seven-feet a year from now.

"When Don was in the ninth grade we set up a four-year plan for his high jumping career," Wilkerson revealed. "As a ninth grader, Don's goal was 6'0"; 10th grade, 6'4" and 11th grade 6'8" and in the 12th, 7'0". He has reached each of these goals so far."

In the state finals at Flint Southwestern, Grandison was third going into the jumps at 6'6" because others had missed at lower heights. If he had negotiated 6'6" on his first attempt he would had nailed down third and All-State honors, but unfortunately he missed. Instead he made it on his third attempt and finished eighth in the field.

Ironically, the next day he came back and won the state AAU championships against an identical field which included Paul Pwinski, the reigning Class A state champ in that event.

Austin is a senior who qualified for the state finals in the high hurdles by placing third or better at the regionals for the past three years. His best time for the event is 14.5 and he won the Western Six in the lows but had the misfortune of stumbling on a hurdle in the highs and didn't qualify.

Rick placed fifth in the state by running 14.6, 14.5 and 14.5 in the preliminaries and finals, respectively.

He has been clocked in 14.8 in the 110-meter hurdles at the Central Michigan Relays, an event he won. He also earned a full-ride scholarship to CMU.

Austin didn't join his teammates this year until late in March because he suffered from mononucleosis, but he still managed to make a sensational comeback and remained undefeated in dual meet competition until running up against Bishop Borgess' Matt Kogelecki, the only one to beat the Churchill hurdler this year. Austin also contributed to the Churchill cause by running both in the 440 and the 880 yard relays.

Sixteen-year-old Fleisher was named the Canton track team's co-MVP award. His credentials are impeccable as Rich has won both the 220 and the quarter-mile titles in the tough Western Six Conference. His best time in the 220 is 23 seconds flat and in the 440-yard it's 51.4. He led the team in first places with 25 and accounted for 157 points.

Fleisher became the first athlete in the school's young history to capture a regional track title as he finished first at Farmington.

"Fleisher is a coach's dream, an excellent athlete with tremendous potential and an outstanding young man," said Canton Coach Mike Tiano. "Hos scholstic grades aare a 3.8 out of a possible 4.0 - how can you beat that kind of combination."

All-Tri-River

Cherry Hill places 3 on all-league

Three Cherry Hill players were named this week by the coaches to the all-Tri-River Conference baseball team.

Named to the all-league team are Ron Sosnowski, a third baseman, Mark Buck, shortstop and Tim Hoffer, second baseman.

Sosnowski had an exceptional year as he clubbed three home runs, batted in 17 runs, collected four doubles and a pair of triples in a .466 league season (21 of 45).

Hoffer wound up hitting .340 in the league, latching on to 15 hits in 44 at bats, scored nine runs and had nine RBIs, while Buck, a .313 hitter in the league, finished his prep career with 16 hits in 51 trips to the plate, scored 12 runs and batted in an equal number of runs. He stole 15 times in 16 attempts and also hammered a homer.

The Tri-River Conference final standings showed Garden City West and Taylor Kennedy, the defending champ, sharing the league championship this year. Both finished with 12-2 records, while Cherry Hill and Melvindale are co-owners of third place(9-5), followed up by Riverside (6-8), Crestwood(4-10), Schafer (3-11) and Southgate(1-13).

Winekoff wins mat title

Rick Winekoff, emerging as one of the top young prep wrestlers in the state, won the National Freestyle Wrestling Championship last week at Concordia College in River Forest, Ill.

A 16-year-old Belleville High junior who was named to The Associated Newspapers' All-Area team last season, Winekoff defeated the entry from Kentucky to earn the 160½ crown. He won the title via a pin.

The victory also qualified Rick for an all-expenses paid trip to the International Olympics Development and World Training Camp which will be staged on July 8 through Aug.2 at Squaw Valley, California.

After the camp, Winekoff will compete in the inaugural United States "Elite Wrestling Tournament", scheduled for Aug.10 through Aug. 13 at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Rick is a menber of the Michigan Wrestling Club and has been one of the top performers in the area and at Belleville High.

Blaha has been the pace-setter in the area in the distance events. He was labeled as "the best distance runner in the history of Wayne Memorial," according to Coach Ernie Righetti.

A senior who owns the school record in the two-mile at 9:16.6, Blaha won both the two-mile(9:34.1) and the mile(4:25.3) titles in the Great Lakes 8 Conference and came back to repeat his championship runs in the regionals.

Rick had problems during the state finals and had to settle for a seventh place in the two-mile.

"Except for that performance," added Righetti, "I have never seen Rick run a bad race."

Blaha and teammate Mason, along with Churchill's Tobin Jones and Franklin's Dave Bowen have accepted full-ride athletic scholarships to Wayne State University and the Tartars really got a bargain deal in that package.

Mason, whose 1:55.5 for the half mile, placed him among the top performers in the state is the reigning league champ in that event. He also won the Bedford Invitational and he can run a wide range of events, including the 330-low hurdles up to the two-mile.

"Ron is the most versatile runner I have coached in a long time," said Righetti, "in fact he could even run the 100 if we needed him to."

-Inkster's lone representative to the All-Area team is Keith Gillard whose speed in the dashes enabled the Vikings to challenge the perennial power, Dearborn Heights Robichaud for the Suburban Athletic Conference championship. Robichaud won the title for the fourth consecutive year, but Keith proved that he is among the top sprinters in the conference and the area by running a 9.9 for the 100.

Minor is a junior who helped Coach Joe Grasley's Spartans capture their fifth consecutive Tri-River Conference championship. He was a strong performer in the 330-yard low hurdlers, covering the distance in 39.3, his best time of the season. Unfortunately for Minor, the Tri-River was loaded with talented hurdlers, namely, Garden City West's Mark Oblinger and Issa Kogler who finished one-two in the hurdlers, respectively.

After finishing third at the regionals, Minor went on to the Class B state finals and chalked up a 12th.

"Minor is a coachable, multi-talented athlete and if we had him specialize in the hurdlers he would have done much better," Grasley pointed out.

Dasher was the Suburban 8 Conference champ in the discus, beating the likes of highly-touted Redford Union's Mike Petsch. An outstanding athlete, Dasher was an All-State gridder who has been scouted by almost every major college and university in the country.

Bowen, a triple champ in the Northwest Suburban, a league Franklin dominated this year, "was like money in the bank", for Coach Bob Holmes.

"We could draw on Bowen's consistent efforts and he made a big difference for us this season," Holmes added.

Bowen runs a 49.8 for the quarter-mile, leaps 21 feet, 1 inch in the long jump and is the anchorman for the mile relay team which is made up of seniors Kean, Frusti and junior Bill Flannigan. That team's best time this season was 3:24.9. The forusome won the regional, Western Wayne, placed second at the Livonia Relays and finished 11th in the state.

DORAN MASON

Franklin's 880-yard relay team of Kean-Williams-Berry and Bowen won the league title, placed third in the regional and was clocked at 1:31.2 for their best time.

Belleville's Koger is not only an exceptional long jumper, but he excels in high jump. He started the season off by clearing 6'8" at the Eastern Michigan Relays(indoors) and was the mainstay of the Tiger thrust in that event throughout the year. His leap of 22 feet, 1 inch earned him a berth on the All-Area team as the best long jumper in the area for 1978.

Plymouth Salem's Scott Kappler ran into a stroke of bad luck during the regionals and, as it happens many times, failed to make the opening height in his specialty — the pole vault.

But Scott had established himself as one of the top high school vaulters in the state when he cleared 14 feet, 8 inches - a height that stood as the standard throughout most of the 1978 season.

RICK AUSTIN

Tobin Jones, a durable runner whose rise to the top of the distance field is no surprise, is a miler of outstanding potential. He ran a 4:26.8, just short of a school record to win the league title and his 9:34.7 is a record for the two-mile.

Tobin was the winner of the Western Wayne in the two-mile and he placed third in both the two and the mile at the regionals. At Central Michigan, Price entered this senior in the 1,500 meter and Tobin responded with a 4:02 — which gave him the gold medal.

"This young man is a devoted athlete, hard-worker and you can go on and on," Price said. "He's just an outstanding person who could double for you and get the job done.

Churchill's 440-yard relay team made up of senior Chuck Watkins, sophomore Bob Monohan, senior Joe Stchur and junior Doran Mason tied the school record at 44 seconds in winning the conference championship for the second year in a row. They also were the Western Wayne champ and the regional champ.

King of Softball

Eddie Feigner has entertained softball fans in just about every state in the country and has taken his showmanship across the ocean to Europe. Recognized as the "King of Softball", Feigner and his 4-man court will take on the Westland Jaycees in an exhibition game with proceeds going to the various Jaycees projects. If you haven't seen this softball wiz perform, don't miss the July 22 game at John Glenn High.

Westland Jaycees take on softball 'king'

Eddie "The King" Feigner, softball world's super showman, will lead his four-man King & His Court against the full-sided Westland Jaycees' All-Stars.

The game, sponsored by the Jaycees, will get underway at 5 p.m. on July 22 at the John Glenn High School Field, Marquette, between Wayne and Newburgh Rds. The gates will open at 4 p.m.

In his 33rd consecutive season on the road, the superbly-trained Feigner is still firing away softballs at an estimated 105 miles per hour, exhibiting some 30 different pitches and striking out the side as if on command, according to Bob Ramsey, project chairman.

As the last of the great barnstormers, Feigner is drawing greater crowds as he matures in this rugged and demanding sport. He made July 14 a "red-letter" day in Midland when 7,000 fans showed up to see him perform and some 3,000 were turned away because of the capacity crowds.

Feigner keeps fans amused with his exceptional skills with a softball. Usually, the format includes an exhibition after the "regular" game.

Does Feigner feel he is as good as he was when he first took to the roads some 33 years ago?

"I may have lost a few inches off my fastball, but the rest of the pitching repertoire seems to improve with each season."

His rivals will agree to that - come out and see.

Watt and Lindley open up Canton golf lead

Bruce Watt and Bill Lindley turned in their best scores of the campaign to sweep five points from Frank McGee and Hank Johnson which helped the winners increase their lead in the Canton Parks and Recreation Men's Golf League.

Watt and Lindley are atop of the standings with 19 points, 3½ points more than co-runners-up, Eminger and Sheets, and Oberhelman and Mattingly who have complied identical 15½ points.

Watt shot a 47 for nine at Fellows' Creek, while Lindey carded a 49 to take all five points from their last place rivals.

Three golfers are now tied for the best round of the year - Jim Gabriel, Paul Oberhelman and Tony Valenti all have turned in 38s.

Here are last week's results: Horrey and Gabrield 3½, Hoffman and Yuchas 1½; Valenti and Kraft 3, Ryan and White 2; Eminger and Sheets 3, Oberhelman and Mattingly 2; Watt and Lindley 5, McGee and Johnson 0; Lapierre and Argonis 4½, Ponte and Ponte ½; Stuebben and Seewald 4, Thomas and Lawrence 1; Pitz and Glover 4, Canning and Young 1; Rehberg and Riggs 5, Brock and Taylor 0; Slade and Bednarz 3, Mogelnicki and Natoli 0; Koers and Koers 3, Lally and Lyndrup 2.

Here are the standings as of last week: Watt and Lindsey 19; Eminger and Sheets 15½; Oberhelman and Mattingly 15½; Kraft and Valenti 15; Ponte and Ponte 12½; Canning and Young 12; Gabriel and Horrey 12; Koers and Koers 11½; Argonis and Lapierre 11; Hoffman and Yuchis 10; Ryan and White 10; Bednarz and Slade 9½; Pitz aand Golver 8½; Rehberg and Riggs 7½; Stubbenn and Seewald 7; Thomas and Lawrence 6; Natoli and Mogelnicki 5; Brock and Taylor 4½; Lally and Lyndrup 4½; and McGee and Johnson 1½.

Dickinson, Skotzke tied for 1st

After three weeks of competition, the Canton Women's Golf League remains in a deadlock as two golfers - Silvia Dickinson and Lou Skotzke are tied for first place, while six others are within reach of the top of the standings.

Dickinson and Skotzke shot their best rounds last week to cling to their share of first place. Dickinson carded a 53 and Skotzke bagged a 64 in their last outings at Fellow's Creek Golf Course.

Pauline Pryor, steadily improving her game, checked in with a 64, while Mary Kay Fret posted a 50, her best score of the season.

Standings

Here is the standings for last week's Canton Parks and Recreation's women's golf league:

Silvia Dickinson 15, Lou Skotzke 15, Bev Green 14, Pauline Pryor 14, Estelle Heidt 13, Mary Kay Frey 13, Tiiu Himmelberger 12, Betty Williams 11, Karen Griffith 9, Helen McGee 8, Betty Lowing 8, Mary Jane Faussett 7, Ginnie Johnston 7, Denise Chapman 7, Betty McDougall 6, Sandy Steed 6, Kay Nichols 5, Sandy Froozan 5, Marge Trapp 5, and Joreschi Coreschi 3.

1st is slipping 'A' way

Wayne's softball leader has a rough week

Burghuff Bar is learning fast that leading the lead isn't all that it is set up to be.

The Wayne Class A softball leader was decked twice in their last three outings and the two losses have tightened up the league race.

Despite the setbacks, though, Burghuff (7-3) has an edge over Garden City Sports(5-2), one of the teams that tainted the league-leader's record last week.

Garden City struck for five runs in the first inning, then hung on as Burghuff erupted for three runs in the second and two more in the third. A three-run Garden City fifth turned the tide and led to pitcher Cory Hays' demise.

Hays collected three singles and a run batted in off of winning hurler Joe Kadlec who served up 13 hits, two each to Tim Stone, Dave Seaman and Mike Plagens.

The Garden City pitcher helped his cause with a a single, double and triple and missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to homer. The three hits paved the way for three RBIs.

Terry Kadlec chipped in with three hits, including a triple, while Joe Files homered and singled twice for three RBIs. Bob Augustine drilled a double and single and drove in two runs.

Das Hofbrauhaus(4-4) exploded for seven runs in the last of the seventh to edge the league leader, 10-9, as Dennis Cowell cashed in on his 15-hitter for the victory. With two-away in the last inning, Steve Holmgren knocked in the winning run on a booted ground ball. Jerry Holbrook, Larry Quartucio, Dave Stewart, Steve Reitz and Gary Darco combined for nine of Das Hofbrauhaus' 17 hits.

Dave Rogowski latched on to three singles, while teammate Dave Conlin laced a triple and a pair of singles and Mike Plagens, Dave Seaman and Corky Hays each had a couple of singles for the losers.

Burghuff managed to beat back Das Hofbrauhaus 7-4 as Dean Minton blasted a triple and two singles, Davidson picked up a pair of singles and Reid had a single and double to back up Hays' 11-hit pitching performance.

Loser Dennis Cowell gave up 12 hits, including a pair of run-scoring triples to Conlin and Minton.

Despite their lowly fifth-place image, the Broncos proved to Jim Hangars that they are a respectable team as the Broncos edged their rivals 7-6 in an extra inning.

Jim Gipson's line drive homer to the left field in the eighth settled the issue.

The losers had runners on second and third in their half of the eighth with no outs but couldn't get the equalizer as Delvin St. Antoine flew out and Dennis Kempanien was gunned down at the plate when he attempted to score. Winning pitcher Dan Covert got John Auer on a pop fly to end the game.

Gipson had a homer and a single, while Kampanen and Gipson each had two singles for the winners who received a seven-hit pitching effort from Covert.

Jimmy Green singled twice and doubled, while Steve Fedulchak tripled for the losers.

Jim's Hangars buried last place Roeders Tropicals 14-4 behind a 26-hit attack as Keith Drake drilled a couple of homers, singled and doubledc for the winners. Green checked in with four hits, including a double and three singles while Bob Fullerton had a single, double and triple. Dan Sowa chipped in a single and double against losing pitcher Charlie Taylor.

Fred Pauley accounted for two of the seven hits his mates got off of winner Fullerton.

The Broncos rallied for three runs in the bottom of the sixth to eke out a 9-6 victory over DasHofbrauhauswho collected eight hits, including a pair of singles by Gary Stewart and a triple by Jim Hubbs off of winning chuggler Jim Vergona who relieved starter Curt Wiitanen.

Dennis Kempanien collected two hits and teammate Gibson also homered and singled while Covert turned in with a single and double.

Don Canfield pounded out three homers and a triple to lift the Broncos to a 11-9 victory over Jim's Hangars. Fred Arrington got a single and double to support winning pitcher Jim Vergona's 10-hit effort.

Terry Magnuson homered and singled for the losers and Garry Gesch got a triple and single while Green picked up a pair of hits.

Glenn power lifters capture U.S. Marine Corps state title

If the United States Marine Corps want a few good men, as they say they do, they won't have any problems finding them at Westland John Glenn.

Glenn showed that it has ample strength, especially in power lifting as Coach Jerry Szukaitis' Rockets captured the first place trophy at the annual U.S. Marine Corps Michigan Teen-age Power Lifting Tournament held last weekend in Mount Clemens' YMCA.

It was the second time in as many meets that the Westlanders displayed total team effort to win a multi-team invitational. Earlier the Rockets won the tournament sponsored by Cherry Hill High.

"This is our first year in statewide competition," said Szukaitis, "and I'm surprised at the results. Our kids are considered among the finest in the state as the results have revealed."

Glenn also produced two individual weight class champs as Dave Greway, a 132-pounder, and Bennett Clemond, a 198-pounder captured first place trophies.

Greway came up with a total of 780 pounds to beat out Flint's Ron Chambers for individual honors in their weight class. Dave had a squat of 240 pounds,200 pounds bench press and 340 pounds dead lift for his winning total.

Clemons' winning combination totaled 1,130 (350-245-535) which gave him a 10-pound edge over his closest rival, Detroit Western's Doug Meylan.

The Westlanders placed second with Tony Ryzstak(220-170-280 for 670) who lost the title to Millington's Rick Reinert who lifted a total of 690 pounds.

Glenn's Dion Blanchard also was second, but he lost to Lamphere's Randy Dutton who had the combined poundage of 855 to the Westlanders' 815.

Brian Carpenter, named the tournament's most outstanding lifter, nosed out Glenn's Spencer Taylor for the 165-pound crown. The Flint lifter had 385-185-430 for a grand total of 1,100 pounds as compared to Taylor's 1,090.

Joe Czajka (340-205-385) gave Glenn a second place in the 165 pound class and he finished behind Millington's Steve Foley whose winning total came to 1,050, while Glenn had a third place from Tom Sass at 114 pounds(180-135-300)to round out the medal winners.

They're power-lifting champs

Westland John Glenn proved to the U.S. Marine Corps that the Rockets do have more than a few fine men. Coach Jerry Szukaitis' team competed in and won the United States Marine Corps' Michigan Teen Age Power Lifting Meet at Mount Clemens. The Westlanders' lineup included (seated, from left) Spencer Taylor who finished second at 165 to Brian Carpenter, named the outstanding performer of the meet; Bennett Clemons who won the title at 198, Joe Czajka, second at 181, Kal DeLucas, fourth at 181; standing, from left are Coach Szukaitis, Dave Gregway, champ at 132, Dion Blanchard, second at 148 , Tom Sass, third at 114, and Glenn's athletic director Don Domke. (Tony Ryzstak, who was second at 123, was not available at the time of the photo). Glenn has entered two tournaments this year and has won both.

AUTO FACTS

by Chet Kosin
Before you start working on your car, visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan Ave., Inkster, for the parts and experienced advice you need! Our expert staff will be happy to advise you on any problem your car may have and to help you select parts and materials to do the job. We also have a fully-equipped machine shop and our mechanics are experienced in all phases of engine work. We handle just about any size and type of engine from motorcycle to Diesel. Our service is fast, efficient and reasonably priced. Call KOSIN'S at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays until 5 P.M.
If your car won't start when the key is turned to the start position, inspect the battery cables and wiring to the starter. Tighten any loose connections. If the battery does not have enough power to operate the starter, the engine can usually be started by attaching jumper cables from a booster battery. It is important to hook up the cables correctly. Use one cable to connect the positive terminals of the two batteries. Clamp one end of the other cable to the negative terminal of the good battery and the other to the engine block or other metal part of the disabled car. After starting the engine, disconnect the negative cable, then remove the positive cable. If the starter cranks, but the engine won't catch check to be sure there is fuel in the tank. Then inspect for loose or damaged wires.

LEGAL NOTICES

To the Mayor, Clerk and Superintendent of Public Works of the City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan.
Sirs:
You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on April 27, 1978, decide and determine that the certain portion of County road described in the minutes of said meeting of said Board should be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a public highway. The portion of the minutes of said meeting fully describing said portion of County road is attached hereto and made a part of this notice, which is given under and by virtue of Act 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, Michigan, this 15th day of May, A.D. 1978.

BOARD OF COUNTY ROAD COMMISSIONERS OF THE COUNTY OF WAYNE, MICHIGAN
Michael Berry, Chairman
Joseph M. Herron, Vice-Chairman
Freddie G. Burton, Commissioner
Henry J. Galecki
Secretary and Clerk of the Board

"Commissioner Burton moved the adoption of the following resolution:

WHEREAS, in accordance with the provisions of Section 18, Chapter IV, Act No. 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended, this Board may, by resolution, absolutely abandon and discontinue any portion of any road under its jurisdiction upon or along which there are no buildings of any character; and

WHEREAS, that part of Eureka Rd., 66 feet wide, in the S. ½ of Section 28 and the N. ½ of Section 33, T. 3 S., R. 9 E., City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, the centerline of which is described as follows: Beginning at a point on the North line of Section 33, distant Westerly, 234.96 feet from the N. ¼ corner of said section, and ending at a point on the North line of Section 33, distant S. 87 degrees 23'56" W., 364.96 feet from the N.E. corner of said section, except that part included in The Board of Wayne County Road Commission Minutes, dated 4-14-77, assuming jurisdiction of Relocated Eureka Rd., 120 feet wide, are sections of County roads under the jurisdiction and control of the Board; and

WHEREAS, there are no buildings of any character located upon or along said above described sections of county roads; and
WHEREAS, said sections of County roads are of no use or benefit to the public for highway purposes.
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that said sections of County roads be and the same are hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued and shall cease to exist as public highways; and
BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Board hereby determines that it is to the best interest of the public that the above described sections of County roads be absolutely abandoned and discontinued and that said sections of roads are hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued.

The motion was supported by Commissioner Herron and carried by the following vote:
Ayes, Commissioners Burton, Herron &. Berry
Nays, None"

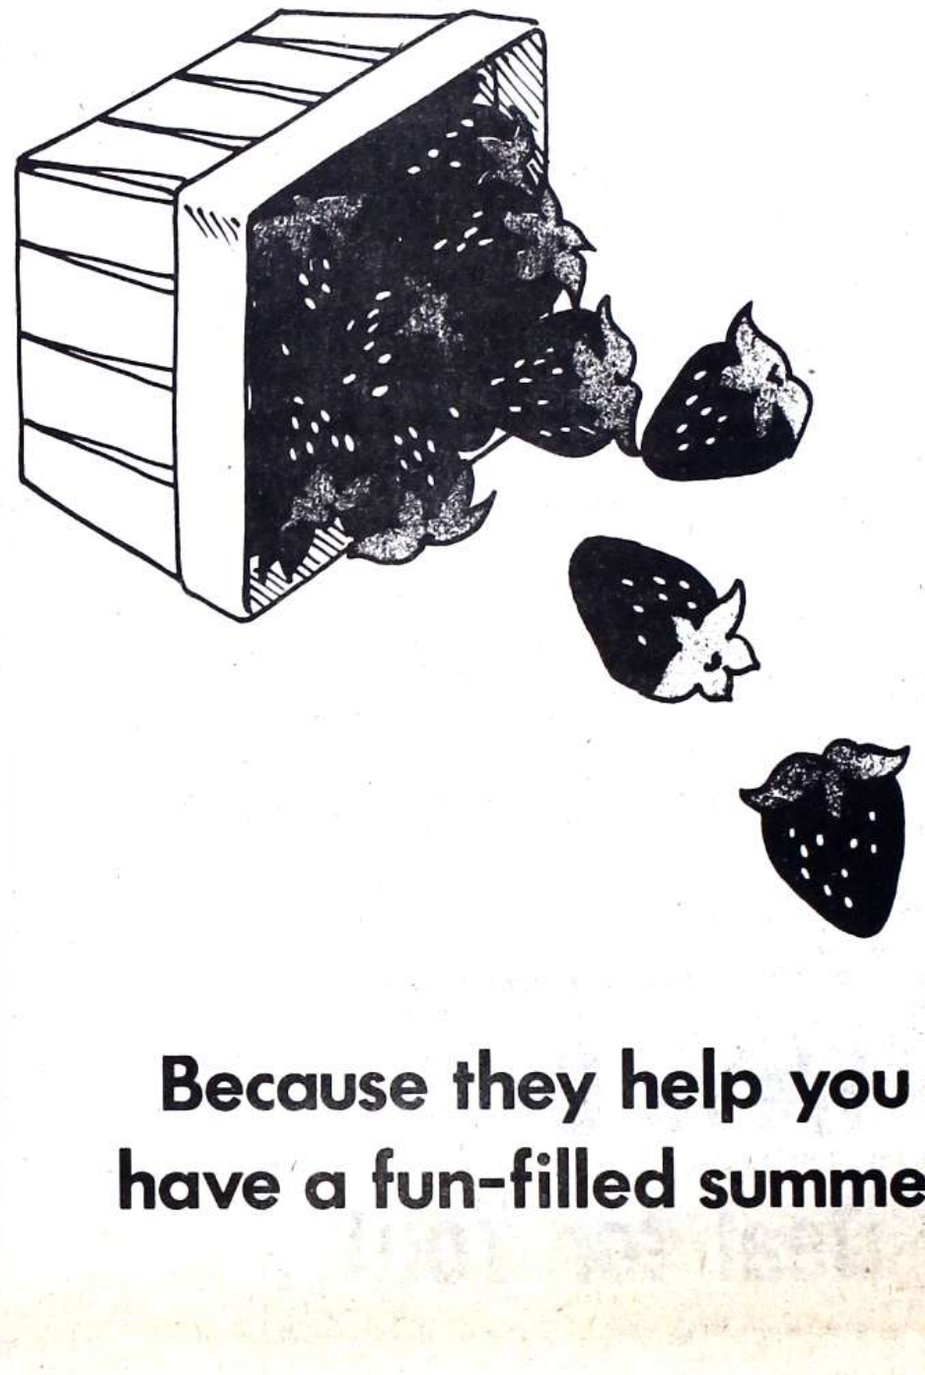
Want Ads are the berries!



Because they help you have a fun-filled summer

The Associated Newspapers Want Ads are bursting with things to make your summer memorable . . . you'll find tempting buys in boats of all sizes, recreational vehicles of all types, camping equipment, fishing gear, golf clubs, motorcycles . . . even furniture and appliances if you're a stay-at-home.

And, Associated Newspapers Want Ads bring you extra money by finding buyers for good things you no longer enjoy. Just go through your home and make a list of all the things that would be of value to someone else, but that you no longer use. People are looking for furniture, appliances, bicycles, sports equipment and much more. When you finish your list, dial 729-3300, 8 A.M. - 5 P.M. weekdays — until 6 P.M. on Mondays. Or, after hours you may leave your name and phone number — we will return your call.

BUYING A HOME MAKES THINGS HAPPEN, TOO.

There's the satisfaction of living in a place that belongs to you...
...cash savings from the tax deductions you're taking now, and equity you're building for later...
...increased value you can count on every year...
...and the mortgage payments that remain fixed, regardless of rising inflation.

So home ownership is more than an Americar dream. It's a practical, positive, American way of life. Talk to a REALTOR® about buying a home. REALTORS® are real estate professionals, trained to help you decide where to buy, what to buy, and how much you can really afford to spend.

All over America, enterprising people are making home ownership happen. To be one of them, call a REALTOR® today.

When It Comes To Real Estate Regulation, How Does Your Knowledge Stack Up?

Have you read all the fine print? We have. We're the Neighborhood Professionals,™ and we do a lot of heavy reading to keep up with the ever changing rules and regulations that govern the sale of property.
